Germany Defers Payment On U. S. Debt Installments

MILLS GIVES THREE YEARS MORE TIME

Whether Eleven Remaining Countries Can Pay This Winter Still Doubtful

THREE OTHERS LAPSE

Arrangements Made to Postpone Nine Millions in Debts Due December

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—Germany has joined the ranks of three other European nations forced by the world depression to postpone payment of current debt installments to the United States. Whether the 11 remaining countries can pay their bills this winter is doubtful.

Secretary of Treasury Mills announced that he had agreed to let Germany wait until 1934 to pay $7,800,000 due tomorrow on account of war claims and cost of the American army of occupation.

Mills waived the requirement in the German-American debt settlement of 1930 that Germany must give 90 days notice of intention to postpone payments. He explained that he had promised Ambassador Von Prittwitz last June 30 that if Germany did not then file a claim for postponement, but waited to see whether it could pay, he would not invoke the 90 day notice clause.

Three other nations—Estonia, Latvia and Poland—notified the treasury before September 15 that they could not pay $90,000, $37,000 and $112,000 respectively, when these payments fall due December 15.

Thus, including the German payments, arrangements have been made by four nations to postpone $9,052,000 out of total debt installments of approximately $131,000,000 falling due in December.

Work of Installing Machinery Started; S. A. Men Are Stockholders

FORMATION OF A $100,000 corporation which will locate a spotlight factory in Santa Ana has been completed and work on the installation of machinery is now under way, it was announced today by George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

TEHACHAPI HIT BY CLOUDBURST DURING NIGHT

Town of Mojave is Under Six Inches of Water; Highways Flooded

TEHACHAPI, Calif., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Residents of this old mining town today picked their way between deep puddles left by a cloudburst which inundated the town to a depth of a foot last night.

The town of Mojave, reports reaching here said, was flooded to a depth of six inches.

Tehachapi residents sought safety on higher ground when water from the flood roared down the canyon on its way toward Mojave.

The highway between here and Monolith was washed out in places by the storm, and service over the Southern Pacific lines was delayed pending passage of the flood water through Tehachapi pass.

A storm of cloudburst proportions also was reported to have struck the Taft district, flooding the highway between here and there.

Sampson was called to aid in tracing the complicated loans which preceded the Insull collapse. Sampson was quoted by Swanson as admitting that he took $300,000 in stock without security from the Central Illinois portfolio. The securities were used to bolster $500,000 in personal bank loans with Chicago banks.

Rain and Hail Fall Here Early This Afternoon

Heralded by claps of thunder and brilliant flashes of lightning, a brief downpour of rain drenched Santa Ana at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Hail fell with the first rain.

Brief though the storm was, the rain fell in torrents, filling the gutters of the streets with overflow. The rainfall in the Santa Ana and Orange districts amounted almost to a cloudburst, ushering in the rainy season for this year with a vengeance.

The proximity and strength of the lightning made it necessary for radio station KREG, to close down for a brief time.

GOV. ROOSEVELT TALKS TONIGHT IN SIOUX CITY

Democratic Candidate in Farm Strike Area for Last Major Speech

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Definitely committed to a policy of political liberalism Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt moved into the farm strike area today for the last major address of his trans-continental tour.

Roosevelt, who subscribed to the progressivism of United States Senator George Norris of Nebraska, independent Republican leader, in an appeal for the support of the progressive faction was expected to outline tonight at Sioux City, Ia., his general policy for economic rehabilitation.

Observers look for the governor to sum up the various proposals he has made to date, placing emphasis on the agricultural situation and plans for farm price stabilization.

The long heralded progressive pronouncement of Roosevelt was delivered at McCook, Neb., home town of Norris. More than 10,000 persons crowded the fairgrounds there to hear the Democratic presidential nominee praise the record of Norris in his fight for the "forgotten man," and to climax with the pledge "I go along with you."

In his appeal for progressive support, Roosevelt declared "I have stressed the fact that my quarrel is not with the millions of splendid men and women who in the past have called themselves Republican, but that my battle is against certain forces now in the control of the leadership of the Republican party, who have forgotten the principles on which that party was founded, and have become representative of a selfish few, who put personal interest above national good."

Roosevelt was welcomed by Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, a brother of the late William Jennings Bryan. Senator

Death Toll For Year Is Sixty-Seven

Ambulance Driver Has Narrow Escape Taking Injured to Hospital

ONE MAN was killed and another is at death's door as the result of a peculiar automobile accident on Ocean avenue two miles west of Garden Grove yesterday afternoon.

Harry T. McLane, 36, of 933 Center street, Bellflower, riding on a trailer attached to a car driven by Deemar R. Conrad, 44, of 344 Chicago street, Bellflower, died at the Orange county hospital at 6 o'clock last night, and Clyde Blodgett, 40, of 1905 Beach street, Bellflower, suffered a fractured skull which may cause his death. He also was on the trailer.

The three Bellflower men were returning to their homes from the Irvine ranch where they had been picking beans. As the car neared the home of J. V. Lee, of Garden Grove, Mrs. Lee backed her car out of the driveway. In an effort to avoid a collision, Conrad turned his car sharply to one side, the trailer skidding in loose sand and striking a telephone pole.

The men were given first aid at the scene of the crash by Dr. Arthur C. Robbins, of Garden Grove, according to those who brought the injured men to the hospital. Dr. Robbins today declared he knew nothing about the crash.

Another accident occurred while the two injured men were being taken to the hospital. The doctor at the scene of the accident placed Blodgett in the bed in the ambulance, feeling that he was the most seriously injured. McLane he ordered on the front seat with Harold Brown, driver of the ambulance. The attending physician said McLane was not so badly injured, apparently, and would be safe in the front seat.

CALIFORNIA'S POINTING WAY IN RELIEF AID

Several States Ask Details on Plans for Helping Jobless Itinerants

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 29.—(INS)—California was pointing the way to all other states today in a three-point unemployment relief program reaching non-resident itinerants, jobless married men and surplus food crops of farmers.

Several states, facing another siege of winter unemployment, were sending inquiries to the capitol for details of the California plan as a model to follow in emergency relief.

Three major phases of California's program were summarized by Governor James Rolph in his administration chiefs as follows:

Itinerant non-residents—Hard work and no pay for this type of unemployed who migrate by the thousands to California each winter. Twenty-five labor camps in the foothills and mountains to open in October and continuing to June, accommodating 7,000 men who will be given food and shelter in exchange for work in clearing trails and building fire prevention works. Daily cost in state of feeding each man is 38 cents.

Resident married men unemployed—Three days work a week at a daily $4 wage on highway projects in the vicinity of their homes. Approximately 5,000 men to be employed for six months, this work to be supervised by the state department of public works.

Surplus food crop relief—Utilization of surplus crops is expected to solve the food problem for more than 100,000 destitute families. Supervised by Dudley M. Moulton, director of agriculture with the title of state food administrator. This program has two phases—getting surplus food contributed outright to the unemployed, and arranging low salvage prices to farmers for marketable products to be distributed through community chests and other organized relief agencies.

This program is already meeting success in speedy relief.

In the Watsonville district, for instance, San Joaquin county has offered several thousand tons of potatoes outright to charity, while the San Pedro commercial fishing fleet has made a similar offer of all oversized and undersized fish. Southern California is swapping its surplus orange crop for potatoes, onions, beans and other vegetables from northern counties. Ventura county has its surplus lima beans, Fresno its dried apricots and apples in the Watsonville district, all of these foods to be traded for other excess crops to balance the diet of the needy unemployed.

YANKS TURN ON WARNEKE FOR VICTORY

"Lefty" Gomez Given Brilliant Support by Team-mates in Tight Spots

GEHRIG STAR HITTER

Crowd of 45,000 Witnesses Second Win for Yanks; Chicago Hurler Slips

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Chicago Cubs 5 to 2 today in the second game of the World series. The American league champions gave "Lefty" Gomez, ace southpaw, brilliant support in turning back their National league rivals.

A crowd of 45,000 saw the Yankees make it two in a row over the Cubs and gain a big lead in the annual classic.

Lonnie Warneke, youthful right-hander, pitched for the Cubs, but he faltered just as Guy Bush in the opening contest, as the Yankees, led by Lou Gehrig, made their hits count.

Gomez allowed the Cubs nine hits but kept them scattered as the Yanks got to Warneke for 13, three of them by Gehrig. The Yankees again were aided by the wildness of the Cub pitching, Warneke issuing four bases on balls.

The Cubs were off to a flying start, scoring a run in the first inning on Herman's double, an error by Crosetti and a long fly by Stephenson.

New York came back in their half of the inning to score two runs after Combs and Sewell walked and Gehrig and Dickey singled.

Chicago tied the score in the third on Stephenson's double and Demaree's single, but the tie was short lived. The Yankees came back in their half of the same inning to score twice and take a lead they never relinquished.

Street Breakfast Will Open Merchants Jubilee

MORNING CLUB TO COOPERATE IN GALA EVENT

Another of the famous "street breakfasts" put on in observance of special events will be served to members of the Santa Ana Breakfast club and the merchants division of the chamber of commerce in a joint and elaborate event which will officially usher in the mammoth Merchants Fall Bazaar on Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock.

The affair will be held on Main street between Fourth and Fifth streets.

A program of vaudeville entertainment of exceptionally high class will be presented at the street breakfast, through the cooperation of the two organizations with the managers of the Fox theatre here, according to Barney Koster, chairman of the Breakfast club program committee.

D. C. Clanton, member of the Breakfast club and director of the Santa Ana Municipal band, has been delegated to secure an outstanding orchestra which will play during the breakfast and program.

The consent of E. G. Warner, police commissioner, to rope off the block and stage the breakfast was secured by members of the committee working on the project late this morning. Warner said he would take the matter before the city council and Chief of Police Floyd Howard to settle the matter officially.

It is planned to place a large banner in the air above the intersection of Fourth and Main streets, announcing the breakfast program as an opener to the mer-

Police were called to the Santa Ana high school last night when a crowd of boys gathered, intent on painting the school's "Poly Owl." The owl was not painted and the boys were sent to their homes.

It is a custom to paint the old owl each year, but so far no paint has splattered on it.

Jerry Hall, assisted by Dr. Ralph Murane, is in charge of the program for the opening event. They are to be assisted by members of the merchants division which is cooperating.

James Harding of the merchants division and David Westin, president of the Breakfast club, are scheduled to deliver short addresses.

Further plans for the event were to have been discussed by the directors of the merchants division this afternoon.

At the Breakfast club meeting in Ketter's cafe this morning where plans were outlined for the event, entertainment was provided by Charles Leland, vaudeville and radio star. He presented a humorous monologue and several feature dancing numbers.

The Roosevelt special was due to arrive in Sioux City, Ia., at 7 p.m. The governor's speech was scheduled for 8 p.m. Two hours later he will depart for Milwaukee.

Three presidents of the United States—Martin Van Buren, Millard Fillmore and Theodore Roosevelt—were born in New York state.

ONE KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT ON WEDNESDAY

As the ambulance sped away at 60 miles an hour, McLane suffered a convulsion. He grabbed the steering wheel and the ambulance was sent hurtling into a ditch. The car did not turn over however, and after considerable effort on the part of Brown, returned to the road, and the hospital reached, where McLane died at 6 o'clock.

He probably died of a fractured skull, according to hospital surgeons who attended the case. They would not say today that a skull fracture was the direct cause, pending an autopsy, but they did state that a broken arm and leg injury which the man also received was not the cause of death. Brown said he thought McLane would die before he could reach the hospital.

The body was removed to the Harrell and Brown funeral parlors where an inquest has been tentatively set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

McLane's death is the 67th in Orange county from automobile accidents this year. There was a total of 69 in 1931.

DECLARE MIS-TRIAL IN DAMAGE ACTION

Assigning his motion to misconduct on the part of one of the plaintiff's attorneys, Attorney Young, representing H. L. Neff of Garden Grove, today was granted a mistrial in the suit of Charles E. Devine and his wife Mrs. Olive Devine against Neff. The motion of mistrial was granted by Superior Judge James L. Allen who reset the case for hearing December 12.

The Devines were suing Neff for damages totalling $13,641.30 for injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding, driven by Neff, left the highway and plunged into a wash on the state highway near Ludlow, Calif.

In moving for a mistrial Young cited the reference of Devine to actions of insurance adjusters when he said he "was not going to let any insurance company chisel me."

Devine on the witness stand yesterday testified that Neff had fallen asleep at the wheel of his automobile while he was traveling between 55 and 60 miles an hour. He said that his wife had asked Neff to not drive so fast several times prior to the accident.

"Gusher" Results When Auto Knocks Over Fire Hydrant

There was a water problem at the corner of Fourth and Garvey streets for a short time at 6 o'clock last evening. But instead of being concerned with a shortage, those involved had more water than they wanted or knew what to do with.

It all happened when one of two cars in a collision at the street intersection ran up over the curb and knocked down a fire hydrant. The ensuing "gusher" put many oil wells to shame. Water department employees were called to the scene of the mishap and shut the flow off within 20 minutes.

Cars driven by James Hayward, 901 South Garvey, and J. M. Williams, 1069 West Fourth street, were involved in the accident. Hayward and Ben Block, of 901 South Garvey, were slightly injured.

Arrest Woman On Vagrancy Charge

Police yesterday afternoon arrested Elsie Clements, 22, of Brookfield, Mo., on a vagrancy charge after she is said to have appeared in the downtown section of the city offering fountain pens for sale.

When questioned at the police station, the girl said her husband had deserted her while they were on their way to California from Missouri and that she was without funds. A minute or so later, police said, the woman's husband called the police and said his wife was missing.

She was booked at the jail and later fined $5 by Judge D. L. Dodge, the fine being suspended.

HOOVER SENDS NOTE TO FARM GATHERING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(UP)—

Hope that constructive action would develop from the conference now going on in Chicago regarding the farm mortgage situation was expressed in a message from President Hoover today.

At the same time, the White House made known that the 75 per cent partial moratorium on seed loans for wheat states might be followed by similar arrangements for cotton, tobacco and other crops where distress was shown. This explanation was made in reply to criticisms from Democratic sources that the wheat loan moratorium displayed favoritism.

M'ADOO CRITICISES WET ASSOCIATION

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 29.—(UP)—

William Gibbs McAdoo, Democratic nominee for United States senate from California, launched an attack today on the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which has announced support of Tallant Tubbs, McAdoo's Republican opponent.

Joanet Shouse, president of the association and former Democratic National committee chairman, came in for particular criticism.

"Shouse was not my floor manager at the New York convention (1924) and certain New York financial interests are seeking now to restore the open saloon to America," McAdoo said.

"I will never vote for the return of the saloon in America and I have said so repeatedly."

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 29.

(To the Editor of The Register.) It was good today to hear our old friend DeWolf Hopper recite his epic, "Casey at the Bat." It was good to hear Graham McNamee, who has remained pre-eminent as an announcer during all these years. Ted Husing was good as usual. The old radio pays for itself every fall during the World Series. We listen to ads, crooners and politicians all year just to hear "the count is three and two on Babe Ruth and the pitcher is winding up." That's America's greatest suspense. Babe is the only man in the world that was never "tuned out on" when he stepped up to that old home plate microphone.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

From the fifth inning on it was a pitcher's battle, with both Gomez and Warneke hurling shut-out ball. Immediately after the game the two teams prepared to go to Chicago where they will resume the series Saturday. Three games—if that many more are necessary—will be played at Wrigley field.

NUMBER OF DEAD IN PORTO RICO IS 124

SAN JUAN, P. R., Sept. 29.—(UP)—

Official reports arriving slowly today from the northeast coast of Porto Rico, devastated by a cyclone, listed 124 persons dead and 1364 persons injured.

Officials feared the death list would grow. The most conservative estimates was 200 dead and perhaps ten times as many injured.

Property damage ran into millions. The citrus and coffee crops were ruined in many sections. Entire villages were flattened.

Although the death list in San Juan was not large, perhaps a dozen at the most, the capital suffered great property damage. The water and light systems were still out of operation.

Gov. James R. Beverley was in charge of rescue work. He made an aerial survey of damage in the interior.

Dairymen Meet In S. A. Today

Dairymen of Southern California are meeting today at the Orange County Farm Bureau as delegates to the Regional Dairy Council.

This meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the new state inspection law and methods of stabilizing the dairy industry. The dairymen, generally, are said to be opposed to the state inspection edict on the grounds that it is placing too heavy a financial burden upon the dairymen at this time. It is expected that some recommendation relative to a change in this law will be the outcome of today's conference.

H. S. Offers Class In Block Printing

The Santa Ana high school is now able to offer to a limited number of persons instruction in block printing in a class which meets daily at 12:45 p.m. under the direction of Miss Jean Goodwin. It was announced today by Principal D. K. Hammond.

The work is handled in conjunction with the print shop, so that an opportunity is provided for practical application of the principles taught. Principal Hammond said. Any adults interested may secure further information from the instructor.

Arrest Motorist For Intoxication

George Stoll, 39, a plumber, residing on the Irvine ranch, was arrested yesterday afternoon on South Main street and lodged in the county jail on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

The arrest was made by E. B. Lentz, city motorcycle officer, who followed the Stoll car for some time, he said.

Stoll will probably be given a hearing in the city court today or tomorrow.

LAGUNA BEACH REPUBLICANS WILL PARADE OF S. A. RIVER

Torches will flame as high as the enthusiasm engendered by the event, when a mammoth, old-fashioned torch political parade is staged in Laguna Beach Monday night by the Orange County Republican central committee and the Young Men's Republican club, according to an announcement made today by Howard Irwin of Fullerton, chairman of the central committee.

Previous to the parade, a Republican rally and dinner will be staged at Travalligh's cafe in Laguna Beach which will be attended by about 200, according to Irwin. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m.

At the rally, two outstanding Republican speakers will be featured in addresses. Nathan Hale of San Francisco, national committeeman, will speak, as well as Edward Trefz, one of the "big shots" of the Republican speaker's committee.

According to present plans, huge bonfires will be lit in various parts of the beach city before the rally and parade.

So outstanding will be the event, that a Fox Movietone news reel will be taken of the parade which will be shown all over the nation, Irwin declared.

Banners, signs, caps, whistles, torchlights and other means of demonstration will be employed to make the parade one of the most outstanding features of the political campaign. A brass band which will play old-time tunes will lend an air of the old political rallies.

From now on, each Monday night a similar event will take place, although they may not be as elaborate. On October 10 a rally will be staged in Santa Ana. All meetings will be held jointly by the two Republican organizations in the county.

S. A. Attorney On Code Commission

Word has been received here that Charles D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorney, is one of three attorneys appointed to the California Code commission. The appointment was made by Gov. James Rolph Jr. and announced from Sacramento. The group was formed to revise and codify the statutes of the state.

Other attorneys named members of the commission were: John C. Bowker, of Los Angeles and Charles A. Beardsley, of Oakland.

STUDY PLAN TO SPREAD WATERS OF S. A. RIVER

Murray Thompson, county flood control engineer; Willard Smith, chairman of the water committee of the board of supervisors, and Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, conferred this morning with members of the Orange County Farm Bureau water committee relative to plans for water spreading in this area.

According to R. D. Flaherty, executive secretary for the Farm Bureau, the meeting was called to discuss the feasibility of spreading water that is now running into the ocean. Under the proposed project this water would be spread between the Olive and Yorba bridges. Thompson has conducted several experiments along these lines already it was said.

To continue these operations, according to Flaherty, it will be necessary to secure permission of the Garden Grove and Anaheim Protection districts and some individual property owners who hold rights along the Santa Ana river to use the ground for a spreading basin.

As a result of the conference this morning Thompson will conduct further investigation and study of the proposed project to determine whether or not the advantages of such experiment will offset the effort and expense of securing permission to use the spreading ground.

Plans for a beach party and dance at Dana Point and a visit to a Los Angeles newspaper plant were discussed.

Robert Clingan, vice president; James Torres, secretary-treasurer; Miss Kathryn Sumner, social commissioner; and Sigurd Magnusson, business manager for the student directory, were selected by the 22 members present at the club's first regular meeting in the college print shop last night.

control of what is known as verticillium wilt of strawberries, causing much alarm to California growers because of the dying of plants, the disease and its spread may be combatted, according to a statement made in a new University of California bulletin by Harold E. Thomas, assistant plant pathologist in the experiment station of the College of Agriculture.

Copies of the new bulletin, No. 530, entitled "Verticillium Wilt of Strawberries," may be secured free from the office of Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg at the court house annex.

The three trying years just past proved no exception. Protected by the basic security of thousands of conservative, first-lien home loans, our savers' funds have remained intact and continued to earn favorable interest without interruption.

A WORD OF COMFORT

As you look back over the years, you discover that the characteristics which you manifested in youth are part of you today.

Joy and sorrow, victory and defeat, have developed you, but your personality is uniquely the same through the years. Griefs have been outgrown and joys have been added. The body which you use is different in size and endurance now, and ere long you will be through with that also.

The same self, with its aspirations and hopes, its love and devotion uplifted and purified, will go on into the larger life. Live with the consciousness that you are to go on forever.

Honor Orange Man At Dinner

Among Orange county men to be honored at the Republican "$10 barbecue dinner" to be held Saturday at the Phil Stanton ranch near Anaheim will be Justus Craemer of Orange.

Craemer, prominently identified with Republican affairs in Orange county and the state for many years recently was elected secretary of the Republican state central committee when that body met in Sacramento for organization and election of officers. He is returning today from a trip through the middle west.

AIR LINES SPEED UP
WASHINGTON — Two new passenger air line speed records were hung up in different parts of the country recently. One was set on the route from San Francisco to Sacramento, when passengers were taken on the trip at 359 miles an hour, making the hop in 17 minutes. The other was on the Oklahoma City-Tulsa route, six passengers being carried over the route at an average of 250 miles an hour.

VAN WYK URGES RETENTION OF WRIGHT ACT

An aggressive fight for lowered costs of government and a close study of all possible avenues of economy in county administration was promised last night by Charles D. Van Wyk, independent nominee, if he is elected supervisor of the first district, when he spoke at a meeting of the Van Wyk-for-Supervisor committee in the Hill building.

Van Wyk also declared himself in favor of the retention of the Wright law in California at the coming election, and all law enforcement. If elected supervisor, he declared, and the Wright law should be repealed, he would fight for adequate county measures that would give to officers the power to enforce the Eighteenth amendment and preserve for them the effectiveness of the Wright act.

"Few people may realize that liquor law enforcement, as provided by the Wright law, comes within the sphere of the county governing body," Van Wyk declared to the assembled group. "But if the Wright law should be repealed by the northern vote on November 8, the major responsibility for enforcement of the prohibition law would fall on the county supervisors. The supervisors could either leave the county officers powerless to act, or they could provide them with some sort of enabling statute which would make it possible, at least in this county, to enforce the national laws."

"I believe that citizens of Orange county, and particularly citizens of Santa Ana, have made evident their attitude on all moral issues, and the wholesome moral structure of our community has been largely responsible for the influx of people with a finer caliber than the average. This too has resulted in a wonderful material wealth."

Public Demands Retrenchment
Referring to the tax situation, and the widespread demand for retrenchment in governmental costs, which now take 29 per cent or more of the people's income, Van Wyk made the following statement:

"The individual, in past prosperous times, acceded nobly to the program of what was at the time thought to be community advancement. Wonderful public projects were conceived and carried through. Bond issues were floated for these improvements. Expensive habits were formed, and taxes mounted out of all proportion to the wealth created."

"Undoubtedly, society clamored for more and more services from the government, for larger and finer public institutions. The individual was also satisfying, at that time, his own wants and whims with a free hand. His private expenses were growing rapidly and out of reasonable proportion to his income."

"But today the situation in which he finds himself is precarious. He is meeting the situation, however, and is fighting for economic existence. He has lowered his standard of living in keeping with his ability to pay. Luxuries have been eliminated. This the individual in Santa Ana has done."

"And now society collectively is clamoring for economy in government, for the curtailment of governmental outlays to a point within the reach of the lowered income of the people. Strangely enough, a great many political leaders seem reluctant to meet this demand, this in direct contrast to the enthusiastic way in which they embraced the riotous spending program of former days. The ultimate recourse, other means failing, is the power of the voters to replace those leaders."

Makes Pledge
"Orange county is more fortunate

250 EXPECTED AT $10 DINNER OF REPUBLICANS

than most communities, inasmuch as it has on the whole been better governed. Public projects in Orange county have, for the most part, been wisely conceived and well administered. There is, however, urgent demand from the taxpayers for a strict program of economy. This demand, removed from generalities, means the abandonment of all projects not absolutely necessary at this time. It means elimination of all departments and ramifications of departments whose functions could be taken over by other departments. It means the adjustment of salaries in keeping with the caliber of services performed. It means the keener application of the county's purchasing dollar, and the adoption of general principles of business which are in keeping with the times.

"As a candidate for supervisor from the first district, without any entangling alliances of any kind with any political faction, I will be free to ferret out all possible avenues of economy in county administration, and aggressively fight for lowered costs of government. And this I pledge myself to do if elected to this important post."

MRS. ANNIE KURTZ CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Annie E. Kurtz, a resident of Orange for the past 30 years, passed away at her home, 221 East Palmyra street, this morning. The body is at the C. W. Coffey funeral parlors pending arrangements for services.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. E. Blackburn, Fullerton, and five sons, Oscar Kurtz, Santa Ana; Milton Kurtz, Lindsay; Will Kurtz, Oakdale; and Neal Kurtz, Orange.

THREE ALIKE
CHICAGO—Three deacons in Rev. Leonard Trap's Second Christian Reformed church have much in common. They answer to the first name of Henry, and each is the proud father of a set of twins.

Republican leaders from all over Southern California will be in attendance Saturday at the $10 barbecue dinner to be held at the Phil Stanton home.

According to Howard Irwin, chairman of the Orange County Republican Central committee, advance sale of tickets indicates that between 225 and 250 people will attend the rally.

Irwin said today that the heads of all state commissions will be present at the rally in addition to prominent Republicans from Los Angeles and other Southern California committees. State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson and Talant Tubbs, Republican candidate for senator, will be among the guests of honor.

Irwin will preside during the dinner and following program and will call upon practically every guest to discuss certain phases of the Republican campaign in this state. This is the first general rally held in Southern California this year and is expected to be one of the important gatherings prior to the general election in November.

Practically all of the patios and outdoor sun porches of the Stanton estate will be at the disposal of guests at the barbecue and the beautiful living room of the Stanton home will be opened to the women guests. A musical program will be presented in the living room. The group speaking will be held in the patios and sun porches.

The Stanton estate is a two miles west of Fullerton and midway between Anaheim and Fullerton on Brookhurst road.

From the extreme south point of Texas, due north to the boundary of the United States, the air line distance is about 1600 miles.

WOODCUTTING PROGRAM AIDS 125 FAMILIES

The woodyard of the local Goodwill Industries during last winter provided work for from 20 to 30 men at a time for a period of more than three months, each man being given from two to four days work each week, depending on the needs of his family. The sum paid out in wages for this work amounted to more than $8000 and 125 families were thus supported partly or altogether by the work.

As a result of last year's woodcutting program, the Goodwill now has on hand nearly 400 cords of seasoned wood, cut to stove and fireplace lengths. As this wood is sold this fall, the money received will at once be turned to pay other men to cut more wood. It is sold at the same prices at which regular dealers offer it.

The amount of help which the Goodwill can give this season in relieving unemployment will depend on two things, according to John Winterbourne, manager of the local store. First, it will be determined by the amount of wood sold, by which funds will be made available to pay out in wages. Second, it will depend on the amount of trees and groves which can be secured for cutting this season.

Winterbourne would like to hear from ranchers or others who are planning to take out trees in any quantity. He can also serve city dwellers who need to remove even one or two trees.

The program is carried on in cooperation with the Citizens Emergency Unemployment committee.

With an advance enrollment which promises one of the largest classes of recent years, the Y. M. C. A. class in public speaking will get under way next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, under the guidance of Ralph Smedley, veteran expounder of speechmaking methods.

The class has been recruited in large measure from the local service clubs and includes both men and women. It will continue for 10 weeks, meeting regularly at the Y. M. C. A.

In addition to the regular instruction and practice in short speeches, Smedley plans this year to incorporate as an added feature some special instruction in chairmanship, basing this work on his recently published booklet, "The Amateur Chairman," which already has attracted widespread attention on the part of persons who need help in presiding.

FARMERS

President Hoover has designated Senator Dickinson of Iowa, to make a confidential analysis of Gov. Roosevelt's Topeka farm speech.

The President will use it in his Des Moines answer. Elaborate preparations are being made for that event. The Farm Board and Agriculture Department have been gathering data for more than a week.

Mr. Hoover hopes to make the address as important in its line as was the acceptance speech in a general way.

There were several good inside reasons why Des Moines was selected for the presidential farm debut.

The campaign masters first hit upon it as a compromise for West Branch. The small birthplace of the President offered insufficient opportunity to drum up a crowd. Also it smacked a little too much of antiquated political bullhorns.

"Home Town Boy Makes Good" and that sort of thing.

The political necessity for an Iowa speech was shown in polls reaching Washington.

The unquoting White House source commented to a friend on the Roosevelt farm speech as follows:

"It is a very difficult speech to answer because any answer to it must be economic argument and you cannot talk economics in this campaign. You could not get the people to understand."

It's a bet that the Cabinet will swap the Democrats with speeches.

Treasury Secretary Mills is leaving here for the Pacific coast with seven in his pocket. War Secretary Huxley is starting a western tour with nine. Secretary of State Stimson is writing two.

What most Republican managers would rather have are some business men to storm around predicting dire things if Roosevelt is elected. Dawes used that method effectively in 1924. He is not available this year because of his bank's loan from the R. F. C. and his personal affairs in Chicago.

The Senator insists that Curtis stay out of his state until election day.

Curtis will concentrate his efforts in dry territory for the remainder of the campaign. The way he squeezed out of a bad situation at Fogelsville, Pa., was heartening to the managers all along the line. However, they have enough to worry about without anything more like that.

Speaker Garner's plans also call for concentration in the western area after opening in the East.

ALIBI The Interior Department publicity bureau ground out that statement against Roosevelt signed by First Assistant Secretary Joseph M. Dixon. It accused the Democratic nominee of trying to imitate the language and style of Old Teddy.

The publicity man at the department called the newspaper office to explain that the Dixon statement was not an official departmental handout.

They did not want anyone to think the department would use itself for political purposes.

NOTES

An orange juice chain has a good business sign on display in all stores here: "Boy, Wasn't That Some Depression?" ... Two playwrights are in town gathering confidential material to use in a drama on the B.B.F. ... It is scheduled for Broadway presentation if it is as good as they think it is. ... Most of the information was obtained from Police Chief Glassford. ... A former college professor is trying to organize a "Depression University" at Port Royal, Va. ... All unemployed students will be invited to attend. ... Several old buildings have been donated for the school.

UTILITIES

There has been much less fire in Wall Street about Roosevelt's utility speech than might have been expected. Utility companies of standing can't find anything much to quarrel with in his eight points and are pretty well convinced that regulation of the type he describes is on the way. The "prudent investment" basis which he stressed is now in effect in Massachusetts.

The "Insull monstrosity" developments are having quite an effect here. Utility officials are cursing Sam Insull and all his tribe because they figure that the unfavorable publicity will make it that much harder to do a lot of necessary refinancing this fall.

A total of 25 billion dollars is invested in public utilities in this country, of which 25 billion is in holding companies. There are 4-12 million owners of utility securities, of which 4 millions have a participating interest in holding companies.

STOCK MARKET

The public superstition that only experienced and hard-boiled traders go in for short selling was spectacularly disproved on September 26. A few buying orders touched off a panic among the amateur bears and they fell all over each other in their haste to cover. The "squeeze play" was worked just as effectively as it has been worked many times before on amateur bulls.

Stock exchange authorities are not roughriding the shorts quite as strenuously as they did a month or two ago. Weekly reports of short sales have been substituted for daily and the "in-and-out tradings" are not reported.

This relaxation is largely due to the official theory that a good sized short interest is a healthy cushion for a rising market. It has worked as expected and would-be bears are much more active than they have been for some time.

European buying in the American securities markets has tapered off and European selling is beginning to be in evidence. A brokerage house with extensive European connections reports that its foreign clients seem rather anxious to unload before election day.

SPEAKERS

The Democratic Speakers Bureau is keeping very mum about its plans. Huey Long will be judiciously routed where he can scare the fewest conservatives. Garner will speak in Pittsburgh, the principal theme being Andrew Mellon. He probably will not speak in New York although he is expected here for a week on campaign organization work.

SIDELIGHTS

The Democratic action in sending a campaign check to Maine this year was unusual. . . . It seems to have been a good investment. . . . The picturesque "Wild Bill" Lyons is in his element as official gatekeeper at Democratic Headquarters. . . . There is a piano installed at the Billmore for the benefit of Democratic campaign song contributors. . . . There is none at the Waldorf but the Republicans say they have one at National Headquarters in Chicago. . . . There is irony in the application to throw the Waldorf Hotel—housing the Republicans—into receivership. . . . Nothing is apt to come of it now. . . . There is a saving around Roosevelt headquarters that Hoover is the best candidate the Democrats ever had.

'JEKYLL, HYDE' ENDS RUN AT WALKER'S

Fredric March, famous stage and screen star, plays the difficult dual role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in Paramount's new screen dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's weird story of man's dual nature, which closes tonight at Walker's State theater.

March joins a long line of famous actors who have portrayed the Robert Louis Stevenson character. Richard Mansfield first enacted the part on the stage in Boston in May, 1887. The play continues to be a popular melodrama. Henry B. Irving presenting a new version in 1916.

John Barrymore made the only previous film characterization of the dual personality for Paramount in 1920, the production establishing Barrymore as a film favorite.

Mother of 7—Still Young

THE woman who gives her organs the right stimulant need not worry about growing old. Her system doesn't stagnate; her face doesn't age. She has the health and "pep" that come from a lively liver and strong, active bowels.

When you're sluggish and the system needs help, don't take a lot of "patent medicines." There's a famous doctor's prescription for just such cases, and every druggist keeps this standard preparation. It is made from fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin. Take a little every day or so, until every organ in your body feels the big improvement.

The next time you have a bilious headache, or feel all bound-up, take this delicious syrup instead of the usual cathartic. You'll be rid of all that poisonous waste, and you haven't weakened the bowels. You'll have a better appetite, and feel better in every way. The constant use of cathartics is often the cause of a sallow complexion and lines in the face. And so unnecessary!

Would you like to break yourself of the cathartic habit? At the same time building health and vigor that protects you from frequent sick spells, headaches, and colds? Get a big bottle of Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin today. Use often enough to avoid those attacks of constipation. When you feel weak and run-down or a coated tongue or bad breath warns you the bowels need to be stimulated. Give it to children instead of strong laxatives that sap their strength. It isn't expensive.

S. A. RED CROSS GETS GINGHAM YARDAGE TODAY

Five thousand yards of gingham cloth, sent here by the American Red Cross to help clothe needy families in Santa Ana and nearby towns, arrived this morning. It was announced today by Terry E. Stephenson, chairman of the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter.

Stephenson was also notified that the other cloth shipments, which include shirting, birdseye, prints, and sheeting, will arrive here within the next two weeks. A committee named by Chairman Stephenson to distribute the gingham will meet Monday morning at 10 o'clock to complete distribution plans.

Committee in Charge
Members of the Santa Ana committee are Mrs. Roy Beale, Mrs. George Ames, Mrs. T. D. Knights, R. V. Curry, Mrs. Belle Spangler and Mrs. Carrie Ann Leebick. The Santa Ana chapter will also distribute portions of the cloth to other nearby cities. Members of the committee from other towns are Mrs. Helen Coffin of Newport Beach, Anthony Joyce of Capistrano, Mrs. Pearl Jones of Huntington Beach, Mrs. F. J. Meissen of Seal Beach, Mrs. Lillian Wellman of Orange, Mrs. Jessie Dunham of Laguna Beach, Mrs. C. C. Violett of Garden Grove and Mrs. Roy Davis of Costa Mesa.

The amount of cloth which has been received and which will arrive here is not as much as has been supposed by the general public. Chairman Stephenson pointed out today. While flour is comparatively easy to obtain and while there will probably be enough of it to use through the winter months, the cloth has proved more difficult to obtain, he said. The amounts requested were cut in half.

More For North
Anaheim and Fullerton branches of the Red Cross will also receive cloth, which will be distributed throughout the northern part of the county. The cloth will be distributed through the cooperation of the welfare department of the county because of the advantages of the information on needs in the county to which the department has access. It is reported. However, the cloth will not be limited to those that receive county aid.

"We plan to distribute the cloth as fairly as possible according to the population of the various towns," Chairman Stephenson declared. "As far as the sewing of the cloth into garments is concerned, we believe in letting people help themselves as much as possible. If people can sew, it is better that they should. To prevent waste, however, if anyone needs aid in sewing the aid will be given by the Parent-Teachers association."

ELECTRIC SCORE BOARD BRINGS SERIES THRILLS

Well, well! Happy days are here again!
And if you don't believe it, just drop around at the Register building sometime between 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. and see the old time crowd gathered to watch the World Series electric score board and get the thrills of the game. The next game will be at 11:30 a. m. Saturday when the Yanks and Cubs play at Chicago.

The city dads again have been considerate and each day have placed barriers against automobile traffic through Third street between Sycamore and Broadway so that there may be no interruptions. The board is the favorite of the crowd and as one excited fan expressed it, "Golly! You can almost imagine you're right in the stadium!" For undoubtedly there is an excitement in watching the play progress on the board, that is lacking in the accounts over the air.

Members of the "Old Guard" are out in full force, appearing early to seek a nice sunny spot on the curb, where they shuck their peanuts and eat them with the old time gusto. Bank clerks, store clerks, the butcher and baker and candlestick maker all snatch a hasty bite at a drugstore counter, or else dispense with lunch entirely, to meet in friendly enthusiasm "down at Third and Sycamore."

And don't think for a moment they are all men. The "fan-nettes" are on hand too. The board is hailed again this year by Edie West, sports editor of The Register. The wire story of the game is supplemented by radio service through the courtesy of Horton's Furniture store.

REQUIRE EXTRA GRAND THEFT CASE GOES TO JURY PANEL IN "DOPE" TRIAL JURORS TODAY

Coroner Earl Abbey was called upon by Superior Judge James L. Allen today to secure a special venire of jurors to hear evidence in the case of Joe Carrisoa, accused of having Indian hemp, or marijuana, in his possession.

With 12 jurors serving in department one the regular panel was exhausted before the jury was accepted. Because Carrisoa had been taken in custody by deputies from the sheriff's office the sheriff was disqualified from impaneling a special jury venire to hear evidence in the case.

Joe Carrisoa, who is represented in court by J. Harvey Hearn, Los Angeles attorney, is accused of having had more than an acre of land rented by him, planted with marijuana. Carrisoa is said to have admitted planting the hemp and caring for it. He told sheriff's deputies that he did not know what the plant was but was raising it to feed his pigeons.

Hearn, who is representing Carrisoa, is the attorney who recently created a sensation in court here by securing a dismissal of superior court action against Hilario Torres, his client, on the grounds that proceedings at Torres' preliminary hearing in justice court had been irregular. Action against Torres, also accused of possession of marijuana, was dismissed in superior court and the petitioner ordered held while new proceedings were prepared.

Hearn charged that in Torres hearing L. E. Ross, who served as court reporter in justice court at the time, was not an official reporter, had not been properly sworn, and had not attached a certificate to the transcript.

PLAN PARADE TO BROWN MEETINGS

A special song service under direction of Loren Jones was featured last night at the revival meeting conducted here by John Brown. Following this service Brown, taking his text from Genesis 5:24, spoke on the subject "Walking With God."

At the close of the meeting a group of young people met and completed plans for the parade tomorrow night. Olney Jordan, chairman of the Young Peoples' committee outlined plans for the event. Young people of the county will meet at the public library and parade to the tabernacle.

Mrs. Loren Jones, tabernacle pianist, held noon hour meetings for the women at the Santiago packing house Monday, and the business college Tuesday and special meetings at the Santa Ana and Model laundries. Yesterday she addressed high school girls at Garden Grove.

"If we are to walk with God, there are three conditions that must be met," the evangelist said during his sermon. "First, we must agree with God and say, 'not my will but thy will.' The second step is to go in the direction in which God is going; and third, we must keep step with God."

Will Honor Dr. Warmer Here Sunday

With Dr. George A. Warmer, one of the most prominent ministers in the county, starting his sixth year as pastor of the Santa Ana First M. E. church on Sunday, special services will be incorporated in a Rally Day program at the church Sunday, it was learned today.

Every department of the Sunday school will have a special program in honor of the day. Children of the church will join to stage an elaborate program during the morning service.

Dr. Warmer has chosen "Eyes Front" as the subject of his sermon to be delivered at the morning service when church school workers will be special guests. At the evening service, Dr. Warmer will speak on the subject, "The Dawn." When the service is concluded, a reception for new members and the pastor and his family will be held in the church.

MAN JAILED AFTER BEER RAID ON HOME

Pete Starr, a saw filer, residing at 1702 West Fourth street, was arrested by Santa Ana police and sheriff's officers last night, after they had raided his home and found a small amount of beer. He was lodged in the county jail on a charge of possession of liquor.

Twenty-five bottles of beer, 40 empties and a five-gallon crock were confiscated. The raid was conducted after the sheriff's office had reported it had received complaints about the place where Starr lives. Captain Jess Buckles and Sergeant C. V. Adams represented the police department and C. W. Riddle, undersheriff and Deputy Earl Nickles were on the raid from the sheriff's forces.

COLLECTOR CHARGED WITH PETTY THEFT

Harold Miller, 28, of 419 North Parton street, was arrested late yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Merle Dean and G. F. McKelvey, on a complaint, charging petty theft.

He is asserted to have made collections for the Santa Ana Produce company which he did not turn in, sheriff's officers said. The complaints issued by the district attorney's office against him charge theft of $8.41 in one and $4.70 in another.

Officers said the total amount missing would be $300 or more.

JEWISH HOLIDAY CELEBRATION OPENS FRIDAY

Jewish services observing Rosh Hashanah will be held at Lawrence hall, Fourth and Birch streets, at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow. Religious services ushering in the Jewish year of 5693 will be held in Jewish synagogues all over the world in the celebration of the festival of the Jewish New Year. The New Year begins on October 1 and the holiday begins at sunset Friday evening.

All Jews of this community and others interested are cordially invited to attend. The services will be conducted both in the traditional Hebrew with English translations in order to be interesting to everyone. It has been announced that there are to be sermons in English by speakers from Los Angeles.

Services are to be held at the following hours: Friday at 8:30 p. m.; Saturday 8 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. and Sunday at 8 a. m. The festival is distinguished by the blowing of the shofar or ram's horn. In addition to its joyous and optimistic character, it is one of great solemnity and sacredness. Rosh Hashanah is the traditional day for the exchange of greetings and good wishes and for the pardoning of grievances between individuals. The day is joyfully observed along with its devotional character.

SPEEDER FINED $10 ON DRIVING CHARGE

Clarence Singleton, of 226 East Putnam street, Whittier, was fined $25 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today for running away from an officer.

The charge was reckless driving. State traffic officers were holding light tests on the Santa Ana boulevard on the night of August 25. Singleton drove up to the station, and then darted away, chasing two officers off the road, it was said. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Federal Prisoners Brought to Jail

Seventeen federal prisoners were brought to the county jail yesterday afternoon from San Diego, as transfers, swelling the population of the county jail to 243 for today.

The new prisoners make a total of 78 federal prisoners incarcerated here. There are 16 felony prisoners in jail and a total of 149 incarcerated for misdemeanors.

LIQUOR VIOLATOR GETS $500 FINE

Joe Mendez, Santa Ana Mexican, arrested in the recent county wide raid by sheriff's officers and federal prohibition agents, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today to sale of liquor and was fined $500.

The defendant was allowed to pay his fine at the rate of $50 down and $50 per month, this arrangement being granted by the court.

Burglar Gets $115 Worth Of Tools

A burglar who entered the V. G. Doty Chevrolet agency on West Chapman avenue in Orange last night got away with tools and equipment valued at $115, according to a report made to police today.

Curtis Crouch, an employee of the firm, was the heaviest loser, having tools and equipment to the value of $85 taken by the thief, who made his entrance through a rear door after breaking the glass.

Court Notes

Four Mexicans, arrested several days ago at Delhi on drunk charges each were fined $15 in the Santa Ana police court yesterday afternoon, on pleas of guilty. Unable to pay their fines they were sentenced to seven and a half days in jail each. They were Dolores Jaime, Santos Alvarado, Paul Jaime and Pedro Jaime.

Charged with speeding, Frank M. Palomina, Santa Ana, was fined $10, Floyd Russell, Fullerton, $10, and Robert Winchell, 235 Walnut street, $8. Winchell's fine was suspended and his driver's license was confiscated for 30 days.

Elliott E. Ulrich, of the Bay Shore camp, at Newport Beach, has his own way. At least he did yesterday in the city police court. In on a ticket charging speeding, he asked to go to jail rather than pay a fine. The court sentenced him to serve two days and he slept the first night, last night in jail.

Justice of the Peace Donald L. Dodge, of Costa Mesa, yesterday acted as city judge here, in the absence of Judge John G. Mitchell.

THREE-TICKET RULE DECLARED SILLY, SELFISH

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(UP)—There were just a few more than 41,000 customers in Yankee stadium for the opening game of the world series, which meant that some 30,000 seats were occupied by nothing more substantial than good old Bronx atmosphere and green paint.

The Yankees—from the hat boy to Colonel Jake—mourned this small attendance. So did the Cubs. So did Judge (Moon-Comes-Over-the-Mountain) Landis. They mourned because it meant money out of their pockets.

This mourning and groaning was music to our ears—sweet music, it seemed—and we related us, as James Durante would say, for the meagre crowd was largely the fault of the most selfish, avenging and stupid rule known to man or beast—the old law that says you cannot purchase single game seats for the series, but must purchase tickets in blocks of three. That is, if you want to see the first game you must buy tickets for the second and third games as well.

Times Have Changed
This money law came into being back in those flush days before the crash when if you didn't have six bathrooms in your house your mother-in-law wouldn't come to live with you. World series were certain sellouts then, and nobody objected to the high-handedness of the owners. But things are a trifle different now.

This business of having to lay down $15.50 or $15.75 works a tremendous hardship on our average baseball fan. He just ain't got it to lay down.

It's a nonsensical law from the ankles up. If you walked into a haberdashery and asked for a pair of socks and the clerk said "Well, you'll have to buy a suit and an overcoat, too."

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

(By United Press)
PULLMAN, Wash., Sept. 29.—Thirty-three Washington State griders were en route to Los Angeles today for their conference game with the powerful Southern California Trojans. The squad was cheered on its departure by the declaration of "Buck" Bailey, line coach and scout, that the Cougars have a good chance to defeat the Trojans.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 29.—Coach Paul Behrman expects to rely upon defensive Johnny Hancock to provide the speed for Oregon State's offensive against Stanford at Portland Saturday. Blancome will start at quarter, with Hal Rice at right half, Harold Pangle, sophomore, from Santa Ana, Cal., left half, and Frank Little, fullback.

PALO ALTO.—Tapering off training with light blocking and tackling practice, "Pop" Warner and his Stanford hopefuls leave for Portland today to meet Oregon State. On the same train will ride Coach "Clay" Smith and his Santa Clara Broncos, enroute to Eugene to meet Oregon. Stanford and the Broncos clash a week hence.

BERKELEY—Only two of the players who started against Santa Clara last week will appear in the Santa Clara lineup against the Olympic club Saturday as the result of Coach Ingram's efforts to get the Bears into winning form again. Gus Castro is the only back to remain. He has been shifted from half to quarterback.

LOS ANGELES—Small encouragement was given the U. C. L. A. Bruins today when A. J. Sturzenegger, assistant coach, returned from a scouting trip into the territory of the Idaho Vandals. He expressed the opinion it would be a repetition of the S. C. St. Mary's game of last year, with the Bruins on the losing end Friday night.

THE SERIES STOCK

Babe Ruth doesn't need more than one bluegreen to worry opposition pitchers but he laid in a new supply of wagon-tongues before the world series opened, just to be sure he had plenty of his favorite war clubs in stock.

The Yankees—from the hat boy to Colonel Jake—mourned this small attendance. So did the Cubs. So did Judge (Moon-Comes-Over-the-Mountain) Landis. They mourned because it meant money out of their pockets.

This money law came into being back in those flush days before the crash when if you didn't have six bathrooms in your house your mother-in-law wouldn't come to live with you. World series were certain sellouts then, and nobody objected to the high-handedness of the owners. But things are a trifle different now.

This business of having to lay down $15.50 or $15.75 works a tremendous hardship on our average baseball fan. He just ain't got it to lay down.

It's a nonsensical law from the ankles up. If you walked into a haberdashery and asked for a pair of socks and the clerk said "Well, you'll have to buy a suit and an overcoat, too."

FOOTBALL BRIEFS

(By United Press)
PULLMAN, Wash., Sept. 29.—Thirty-three Washington State griders were en route to Los Angeles today for their conference game with the powerful Southern California Trojans. The squad was cheered on its departure by the declaration of "Buck" Bailey, line coach and scout, that the Cougars have a good chance to defeat the Trojans.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 29.—Coach Paul Behrman expects to rely upon defensive Johnny Hancock to provide the speed for Oregon State's offensive against Stanford at Portland Saturday. Blancome will start at quarter, with Hal Rice at right half, Harold Pangle, sophomore, from Santa Ana, Cal., left half, and Frank Little, fullback.

PALO ALTO.—Tapering off training with light blocking and tackling practice, "Pop" Warner and his Stanford hopefuls leave for Portland today to meet Oregon State. On the same train will ride Coach "Clay" Smith and his Santa Clara Broncos, enroute to Eugene to meet Oregon. Stanford and the Broncos clash a week hence.

BERKELEY—Only two of the players who started against Santa Clara last week will appear in the Santa Clara lineup against the Olympic club Saturday as the result of Coach Ingram's efforts to get the Bears into winning form again. Gus Castro is the only back to remain. He has been shifted from half to quarterback.

LOS ANGELES—Small encouragement was given the U. C. L. A. Bruins today when A. J. Sturzenegger, assistant coach, returned from a scouting trip into the territory of the Idaho Vandals. He expressed the opinion it would be a repetition of the S. C. St. Mary's game of last year, with the Bruins on the losing end Friday night.

ROMANCE ADDS ZEST TO NO. 2 SERIES TUSSELE

BY JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—American women may be interested in today's world series game because there's a bit of romance and several "anniversaries" wrapped up in it.

The gallant Castilian pitcher, Senor Vernon ("Lefty") Gomez of the New York Yankees, will be hurling with all his strength of his famous left arm, because if he wins he'll be married within two weeks to a brown-eyed Irish beauty, Little June O'Dea of musical comedy fame. If he loses—well, they'll probably be married anyway.

Manager Charlie Grimm of the Chicago Cubs must triumph over "Lefty's" pitching because if he doesn't his wife won't be able to celebrate properly their tenth wedding anniversary tonight.

Mrs. English Has Birthday
And Mrs. Woody English, Auburn-haired bride of the Cubs' third baseman, must have a victory today for her 32nd birthday present.

When June O'Dea learned of Mr. Grimm's anniversary and Mrs. English's birthday, she gushed:

"Oh, isn't that just too sweet. I do hope the Cubs win—oh, now what am I saying? I mean it would be just too sweet if they could win. But, of course, they can't because Vernon will be pitching."

Mrs. Grimm and Mrs. English will be at the game, but June won't. This petite 19-year-old is the featured dancer in the season's hit, "Of These I Sing," and must appear at a matinee. She'll be listening in on a little radio in her dressing room.

Country Jake Makes Good
New York baseball fans, male and female, have been intrigued by the Gomez-O'Dea romance. The tall, skinny farmer boy from California came to the big city, slicked back his hair and presented observers with a hedge-podge of dazling pitching, cheese diets and finally Broadway love.

When Miss O'Dea first met the "Goofy Castilian," as he is affectionately called by his teammates, at a theatrical party, she remarked that she thought only school boys were interested in throwing baseballs around, and this "pitching business seems very unimportant."

A few baseball games changed her mind. Moreover, Senor Gomez is doing well for a 22-year-old country boy. He's making $10,000 this season and expects to double that figure next year.

Vernon's only worry is his weight. He stands six feet two but scales only about 150. In his futile efforts to put on poundage, "Lefty" says, "I use so much milk and cheese, I'm ashamed to look at cow in the face."

Mrs. Gordon Talbert will meet Miss Mary Saulsbury for the Santa Ana Country club's women's golf championship. She advanced into the titular round yesterday by eliminating Miss Lolita Mead, one up, after a spectacular match.

MRS. TALBERT WINS FROM LOLITA MEAD

To win, Mrs. Talbert had to shatter her own record, circling the course in 86. A sparkling 39 on the first nine put Mrs. Talbert four up but she needed this substantial lead when Miss Mead shot the second half in 44, regaining all but one hole.

Mrs. Talbert had a card of 5-2-5-5-5-4-4-6 for 39 on the first nine and 4-7-5-4-3-7-5-4-6 for 46 on the second nine. Miss Mead took 6-7-6-4-4-3-6-5-8 for 48, and 4-6-6-5-5-5-4-6 for 44.

Mrs. L. R. Kennedy, defeating Mrs. E. B. Van Meter, 2 up, will meet Mrs. L. J. Bushard in the finals of the first flight. Mrs. Bushard beat Mrs. W. C. Fletcher, one up.

Mrs. J. L. McFadden, defeating Mrs. C. V. Doty, one up, will face Mrs. R. D. Crenshaw in the Defeated Eight finals. Mrs. Crenshaw won from Mrs. B. W. McClure, 2 and 2.

Coaches To Aid Register Select Winners

The brains of Santa Ana's two big football teams will help The Register "expert" this year's big gridiron games for Orange county sports followers.

"Tex" Oliver, head coach at Santa Ana High, and Bill Cook, head coach at Santa Ana Junior, will try to pick the winners for this newspaper. They will be assisted by Coaches Bill Foote and Clyde Patton of the high school, Eddie West, sports editor, and Paul Wright of The Register staff will round out the "guessing department."

The six critics will participate in a seasonal contest, with the Adirondack mountains going to the winner. Mason Yould's straw hat will be the consolation prize.

This week's prophesies appear elsewhere on The Register's sport page today. Watch for others every Thursday.

WHITE SOX BUY SIMMONS, HAAS AND JIM DYKES

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The process of rebuilding the Chicago White Sox into a winning team for the 1933 World Fair today was definitely underway with the acquisition of Al Simmons, George (Mule) Haas and Jimmy Dykes, important cogs in the Philadelphia Athletics, three-time pennant winning machine of 1929-30-31.

The purchase of these three stars was executed in New York by President J. Louis Comiskey, and is believed to be the first deal in a series of moves calculated to make pennant contenders of the seventh-place Sox of 1932.

More than $100,000 was reported to have been transferred to the Athletics for Simmons, American league batting champion of 1930 and 1931, and his two teammates.

Word received here today from Comiskey was to the effect that the acquisition of the three Philadelphia stars was only the beginning of a rebuilding program.

Notices were sent out today for the second of a series of golf tournaments to be staged under the auspices of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county. This will be at the Willowick Public course, West Fifth street, Santa Ana, next Tuesday with a dinner following.

Prizes will be given for the low net two-tee, low net individual and blind bogey. All golfers are invited, particularly from Orange county. The first of the series was held recently at the Santa Clemente course. They are being arranged by the Associated's recreation committee.

Big "Bud" Boyle, who has been alternating at center and both the tackle positions, will be at the pivot place due to Herb Duncan's injury.

COUNTY GROUP GOLF MATCHES ARRANGED

Beginning today and continuing through the football season, The Register will print a weekly forecast of leading games of local, coast and national interest. Predictions of six well known Santa Ana sports followers will be considered in a round-robin contest to determine which is the best, or maybe the worst, gusser. The prophets are Coaches "Tex" Oliver, Bill Foote, and Clyde Patton of Santa Ana high school, Coach Bill Cook of Santa Ana junior college, and Eddie West and Paul Wright of The Register's sports department. Watch for their selections, or better yet, make a list of your own and compare it with theirs. Come on, have some fun with us! For obvious reasons, Oliver, Foote and Cook are excused from picking winners of games in which their teams participate.

LOSS OF CRACK WINGMAN BLOW TO TITLE ATTEMPT

On the eve of Santa Ana Hi's last pre-league football game with Compton—a week from the important Long Beach contest—Earle Harris, 185-pound all-conference end and the mainstay of Coach "Tex" Oliver's rather problematical line, was today declared ineligible for further interscholastic competition.

The ruling was officially announced by Lynn Crawford, vice-principal in charge of Santa Ana's athletic relations.

"I did go to college—about two weeks," says Ben. "I entered Purdue and quit after two weeks of it. The next spring I went south with the Yankees."

That was in 1928, Ben. A kid of 19, The Yanks optioned him to Asheville, in the Sally league, where he played 147 games at shortstop, batted .336 and stole 30 bases. In 1929 he was optioned to St. Paul in the American association, where he played 168 games at third base, again batted .336 and pilfered 26 sacks. The Yankees kept him in 1930, using him at second and third bases in 138 games. He made a batting average of .316, but stole only 14 bases.

When Joe McCarthy took the Yankee management in 1931, he quickly saw a spectacular career in the outfield for Chapman. The change was made—and so was Ben. He played 149 games, batted .315 and stole 61 bases, the best base-running performance in either league in many years. Besides this, he proved his right to the title of baseball's fastest runner in a series of informal races.

A semi-pro manager in Birmingham started Chapman on his professional baseball career. Ben was playing high school ball when the manager saw him play and offered him a summer job with his club. The youth, still thinking serious English of college studies, refused the semi-pro manager's offer. That individual immediately told a Yankee scout about Ben.

The bankroll of Colonel Jake Rupert, Yankee owner, has a way of changing a fellow's mind.

Williams Slated for Trial
Roland ("Big Boy") Williams, towering junior, has done so well in scrimmages that he is almost a certainty of opening the game at left tackle where he operated all day yesterday. Willard Noe, a husky blond with loads of natural ability, will probably be at right tackle. Noe has looked good in practice and a trick knee, which gave out on him several times last season, has stood all tests to date satisfactorily.

Jimmie Klepper, another star of the second string, is reasonably sure to get a chance at guard. Ford Underwood will get the call at the other hole.

Big "Bud" Boyle, who has been alternating at center and both the tackle positions, will be at the pivot place due to Herb Duncan's injury.

WORLD SERIES CLOSEUPS

By this time, Ben Chapman's parents surely are convinced that their son, who came to them Christmas Day of 1908, took a wise step when he accepted professional baseball. If any doubt remains, it will be erased when a part of the young Yankee leftfielder's slice of the world series million finds its way into their bank account at an early October date.

But the Chapmans once had other plans for their son. They sent him through high school and prepared him for college, where he was to study law, medicine or some business.

"I did go to college—about two weeks," says Ben. "I entered Purdue and quit after two weeks of it. The next spring I went south with the Yankees."

In his 11th year with the major leagues, Charles Leo ("Gabby") Hartnett still parks his catcher's mitt in the locker of the club house at Wrigley field, Chicago, the spot where he broke into the big leagues.

There are few catchers more colorful than Hartnett. Some class him with Bresnahan, Kilfefer, Schang and other great receivers. This world series is his first great chance.

"Gabby" was eligible for the world series of 1929, but an unforeseen injury kept him out of the Cubs' lineup for most of the year, and he didn't have a chance in the series. A sore arm rendered him useless as a catcher, and he was used as a pinch hitter during most of the season.

He's 32. His home town is Woonsocket, R. I. Hartnett took to catching like a duck to water. His father was a fine backstop and Gabby caught on with a ball club in 1921, at Worcester, Mass. The next year the Cubs got him and he's been catching for them ever since.

For his 10 years as a major leaguer, Gabby has a batting average of .295.

PEABODY, Mass., Sept. 29.—(UP)—Great Britain's "first lady" of the links faced what seemed like easy opposition in the Women's National golf championship today.

Quarter-final pairings matched Enid Wilson of England, British champion for the past two years, with youthful Charlotte Glutting of Shorthills, N. J., and their respective performances to date forecast another victory for the foreign star.

Making the outstanding showing in yesterday's rainy second round play, Miss Wilson defeated Grace English of Lynnfield, Mass., 3 and 7.

Glenn Collet Vare of Philadelphia, five-time champion, took second honors as she defeated Mrs. C. S. Eddis of Toronto, 7 and 5.

BOURBONS HOLD LEAD FOR HIGH POSTS IN TALLY

Another week of straw balloting at the Green Cat cafe on North Main street, continues to show Governor Roosevelt gaining over President Hoover, with the voting during the past seven days more in Roosevelt's favor than ever before.

In the race for Senator, Tallant Tubbs showed unusual strength during the week, McAdoo held his own as compared with other weeks of balloting and Shuler slipped noticeably.

In the race for Congress, Sam Collins continued to hold his big lead over B. Z. McKinney, while D. G. Wetlin, running on the Democratic ticket for state senator led his opponent, Nels Edwards in the week's count.

In the race for assemblyman for this district, James B. Utt Jr., continued to lead by a wide margin, but his opponent, Frank Harwood piled up more votes this week than he has ever before in a single week.

The vote:

	Count	Total
PRESIDENT
Hoover	21	124
Roosevelt	84	247
U. S. SENATOR
Tubbs	32	131
McAdoo	31	155

STATION KREG WILL ASSIST CHEST DRIVE

Radio station KREG has extended its co-operation to the Community Chest for the period of the annual fund campaign. Studio officials have agreed to donate a series of half-hour periods on Thursday evenings for the purpose of carrying the Chest message to people of Orange county.

In addition to talks on activities of the Chest some of the foremost musicians in the county have agreed to contribute their talents to make the programs attractive.

The first of these programs will be presented tonight at 7:15 p. m. Three speakers will take part and outline the Chest activities in a series of three-minute talks. The speakers will be W. J. Tway, chairman of the Community Chest, Attorney J. B. Tucker, and Mrs. Paul Bailey.

The musical numbers will be presented by the Women's Trio of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, directed by Prof. D. C. Cianfoni. This organization will offer the following group of vocal numbers: "Sweet and Low," "By the Bend of the River," "My Lindy Lou" and others.

RADIO FEATURES

Gov. F. D. Roosevelt will be heard in a 45-minute campaign address from Sioux City, Iowa, beginning at 6 o'clock this evening over KFL.

Four movements of Stravinsky's modern ballet suite, "The Firebird," a remarkable story in tone, will be a high light of the concert which Alfred Hertz will conduct for NBC network listeners during the Standard Symphony

Hour between 8:15 and 9:15 o'clock tonight. The program, which will be played by a symphony orchestra organized especially for this series, also includes the first movement of Cesar Franck's beloved Symphony in D Minor; Mendelssohn's infrequently heard "Melusina Overture" and the spectacular "Bacchanale" from Saint-Saens' Biblical opera, "Samson and Delilah." 10 YEARS AGO ...

TODAY ...

Your 1932 ELECTRICAL DOLLAR
buys TWICE as Much Service as a Dollar Bought in 1922

THINK of the electrical appliances you had in your home in 1922, just ten years ago. Think of the number that have been added since then. One thing is certain ... you did not have an electrical refrigerator, for they were almost unknown at that time. Neither did you have an electric radio. Doubtless there are several other electrical devices which are now part of your home life which have been added from time to time.

In your enjoyment of all these added conveniences and comforts, Edison records show that you, as an average customer, are using twice as much current as you did a few years ago. Yet the average electric bill is about the same. The reason is that rates have been consistently reduced. Since 1921, the top lighting rate has been cut 42% and large reductions have been made in all classes of service, notwithstanding steadily rising taxes and other costs during the same period.

You Are Enjoying the Benefits of Many New Uses For Electricity Yet Your Bill Is About the Same.

Because Edison rates have been reduced so consistently during the past 10 years the average Edison customer has been able to use more and more electricity each year without seeing any noticeable increase in his monthly bill.

ARM LEADERS IN OPPOSITION TO TAX CHANGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Opposition to Amendment 5, appearing on the ballot November 8, crystallized here yesterday in the formation of a statewide committee of agriculturalists to combat the measure.

Charging that the $9,000,000 increase in total amount of school taxes proposed, and the assumption by the state of an additional $50,000,000 annual school tax bill will interfere with economic recovery, the committee is outlining plans to inform the voters thoroughly on the measure.

Another objectionable feature, according to the committee, is that the amendment, if passed, would place in the constitution a permanent tax basis for the schools that is substantially higher than the present basis, and take from

DEMOCRATIC MANAGERS HOLD THEIR BREATH AS ROOSEVELT DEFIES JINX ON COAST TRIP

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Another political tradition will receive a black eye if something serious doesn't happen soon to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Part of the widespread belief that danger lies in a presidential candidate's swing around the country to the Pacific coast is more superstition, based on the fact that such trips have often brought bad luck and that the candidates making them seldom got elected. There is also the indubitable fact that the more a candidate runs around, heading into strange territory and into state situations, the more chance he has of stubbing his toe and getting his nose skinned. That was the chief argument the Roosevelt managers used when they tried to persuade their candidate not to go to the coast.

But the general effect of Roosevelt's trip thus far has pleased the Democrats, who think he has been "winning the west," and one definite result has been advice to President Hoover from some of his chief advisers who want him to go out into the west and emulate the kind of campaign Roosevelt has been making.

Of course if it appears that Roosevelt, prior to his return east, has done anything calculated to hurt himself, the superstition against western trips will be stronger than ever and it may be a long time before a nominee tries it again. If Roosevelt loses the west he will be regarded as just one more aspirant who tried to win by aggressive campaigning and failed.

Without delivering any red-hot speeches, the Democratic candidate seems to be following a policy of convincing the country that he is everybody's friend. He has a pleasant personality and he has been making the most of it. His attitude is sympathetic and he tries to get that fact across where it will do the most good.

When he gets into states such as Colorado and California where the Democratic party has serious factional fights he carefully plays no favorites, patting everyone on the back with equal favor. He is a very smart politician, this Roosevelt, and those who felt that his trip was ill-advised possessed no more sagacity than he. Hoover, as he ponders the thought of a western trip, is handicapped by the fact that he isn't as politically smart or as personally ingratiating.

The prize political disaster on a trip to the coast was encountered by Charles Evans Hughes in 1916. Hughes was distinctly not a good politician. At San Francisco he was staying at the same hotel where Senator Hiram Johnson was stopping and a local committee, hating Johnson, failed to bring them together. Enough Johnsonites were sore about it to lose Hughes the state and the election. Wilson waged a "front porch" campaign.

Harding died while on a western trip and Wilson collapsed on a speaking tour in the west. Neither was campaigning for election but their tragedies have intensified the anti-western trip superstition.

The first great "swing around the circle" was made by Bryan in 1896. He repeated in 1900. He lost both times to McKinley, who conducted "front porch" campaigns. Bryan again did the most "swinging" against Taft in 1908—again unsuccessfully.

James M. Cox, on a big tour, spoke up and down the Pacific coast in 1920 and was buried in the Harding landslide. Harding having remained on his veranda to make a few set speeches. In 1924 Davis, the loser, made many more speeches than Coolidge and in 1928 Smith did nearly all the stumping, although he did not reach the coast, which was correctly regarded as all Hoover's.

After election day, of course, one may have to record that Roosevelt wasn't the man who broke the sequence.

INCREASED OPERATIONS AT SUGAR PLANT NEXT YEAR TO
ADD $60,000 TO PAYROLL

An increase of more than $60,000 in Orange county payrolls through the sugar industry has been promised through announcement of plans to increase the sugar beet acreage in this district for next year. Announcement of the increased acreage was made yesterday by G. J. Strodthoff, general manager of the Los Alamitos Sugar company and the Holly plant in Santa Ana.

Strodthoff said that beet acreage in the district, comprising land in Orange county and Los Angeles county, east of Long Beach, would be increased by 5000 acres for next season. This increase will bring the beet acreage of the district up to 15,000 acres.

Half the increase, according to Strodthoff will be in Orange county where plans have already been made to plant an additional 2500 acres to beets for next season. This additional acreage will bring Orange county's beet producing land up to 8000 acres.

Pays $7.50 Per Ton
In Orange county the principal increases will be south of the Smelter-Talbert district, on the Irvine ranch holdings, and the Bixby, Helman, and Bryant ranches in this county.

Strodthoff said that because of the fact that sugar beets returned $7.50 per ton to the growers this year and the crop is sold before planting, ranchers are turning to beet production as the best source of income. Strodthoff said that many of the growers are turning bean land to beet production. Many of the bean growers are doing this he said as a part of their crop rotating program.

Increased beet acreage, to the extent outlined by Strodthoff, will mean an increase of factory operations at the Holly plant by 30 days. In the past factory operations have been conducted for 90 days each year. Plans are already being made to operate the Santa Ana factory for 120 days next season.

Payroll Increases
The payroll at the factory here for the regular 90 day operation is estimated at $75,000. An additional 30 days will increase this payroll by $25,000. Field labor in cultivation of the crops costs an average of $15 per acre. This item alone will mean an increase of approximately $75,000 in county payrolls.

The acreage already contracted for will provide a crop of approximately 120,000 tons of beets next year, equivalent to about 400,000 bags of sugar, each bag weighing 100 pounds. The cash return for the 1932 crop will bring about $900,000 to the growers, according to Strodthoff's estimate.

German seed will be used in planting the crop which is cultivated under direction of the sugar company. Strodthoff said that very little American seed is available and does not produce beets of the standard demanded at the factory.

Overhead irrigation of sugar beets will be tried out for the first time this year, according to Strodthoff.

Schedule Horse
Show at Fullerton

Lovers of horsemanship are looking forward to a show of some 50 or 60 animals at the Hillcrest stables, just north of Fullerton, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The show, being staged by the Moody and Campbell, owners of the stable, will see the best horses in the county on exhibition. There is no admission charge.

A pot luck supper is being planned by many who expect to attend. Coffee will be furnished free.

START CLASS WORK
TALBERT, Sept. 29.—The naturalization and Americanization classes, which are in charge of Mrs. Florence Summers have opened in Talbert for the season.

LIGHT SHOWERS
VISIT COUNTY:
FIRST OF YEAR

The rain gods had little rain left over for Orange county yesterday and last night after depositing .01 of an inch in Los Angeles yesterday in the first recordable rain of the season.

Sprinkles and traces of rain, however, were reported in various sections of the county in the first precipitation of the current season. It was enough to make good the prophecies of weather "experts" for rain before the end of the month.

A light shower fell in La Habra and golfers on the Hacienda course in the La Habra Heights district scurried for shelter from the rain which lasted but a few minutes.

The first hail storm of the season was reported in the business district of Whittier at 4:15 p.m. yesterday. Merchants reported that good-sized hail stones fell for a short time.

Slight traces of rain were reported from the county beach districts. A drizzle of rain fell at 11:30 o'clock last night in Laguna Beach, accompanied by a lightning display and thunder. The rain was not enough to register.

No rain fell in the northern part of the county around Anaheim and Fullerton. Santa Ana, likewise, was forgotten by the rain gods. Although it "looked like rain" yesterday in Placentia, no rain fell.

A trace of rain was reported from Newport Beach during the night, but the amount was not large enough to measure.

C. of C. Directors
Plan Discussion
Of Legislation

Directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will devote the entire meeting period at the October 12 meeting to the consideration of the various legislative matters to be voted on at the November election. It was announced today following a meeting of the board yesterday.

Between now and the next meeting an intensive and thorough investigation of all the matters on the ballot is scheduled to be conducted by the directors, who expect to take some kind of recommendation action on each of the bills, according to Secretary George A. Raymer.

Nearly the entire meeting period yesterday was consumed by the discussion of plans for the new marine and automotive light equipment factory which is being installed here in the old Kaufman Spotlight factory on East First street.

Amend By-Laws
Of Brea Church

BREA, Sept. 29.—At a business meeting of the Brea Baptist church, the Rev. B. H. Blancher, pastor, the amended by-laws were unanimously adopted. The committee in charge of this work was R. W. Monroe, Joe Smith, R. T. Smith and J. F. Flanagan.

It was decided to ask the present financial secretary, Miss Desie Smith, and the treasurer, R. T. Smith, to finish the fiscal year of the church in the same positions.

Building plans were left up to the present building committee, S. F. Burgess, chairman.

NEW MAYOR GREETES VETS

Some with graying hair and some with widening waists, but all with happy smiles, veterans of the 77th, New York's first draft division in the World war, displayed their battle flags to Mayor McKee at City Hall. They are seen here as they received official greetings before they commenced their three-day reunion.

VETERANS OF COUNTY PLAN
MASS MEETING OCTOBER 5
ON LEGISLATIVE MATTERS

Veterans' organizations of Orange county will combine in a mass meeting to be held next Wednesday night at the Santa Ana High school auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be for the purpose of enlightening veterans and the public in general regarding veterans' legislation, according to those in charge.

The open mass meeting will be held under auspices of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and in cooperation with all American Legion posts, Veterans of Foreign Wars posts, United Spanish War Veterans camps and the Grand Army of the Republic. Members of the Grand Army will be honor guests at the meeting.

"This meeting is for the purpose of acquainting citizens in general and veterans in particular with the seriousness of the legislative situation to be encountered when Congress reconvenes in December, Earl Hawks, D. A. V. commander said. "We wish to shed light on unjust and inaccurate information being poured into every avenue of publicity, to present the veterans' side of the controversy, and to suggest ways and means to combat these vicious attacks."

According to members of the committee arranging for the meeting an able speaker will bare some of the unwarranted propaganda against the veterans and shed some light on the personnel of the National Economy league, prominently identified with this program.

The committee in charge of arrangements is: Harry S. Pickard, chairman; Jules W. Markel, Virgil Marr, Santa Ana; David R. Day, Fullerton; James C. Wylie, Orange; Louis A. Riehl, and Glen A. Young, commander of the Legion county council, both of Tustin.

P.T. A. And Aid

GENERAL streamline
JUMBOTUSTIN MAN
SPEAKS FOR KIWANIS CLUB

Substituting for John Brown, noted evangelist who is conducting a revival campaign here and who was unable to be present, the Rev. J. Stuart Hyndal, pastor of the Tustin Presbyterian church, was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club held yesterday noon in Ketter's cafe.

In his address on the relation of depression to the religious situation, the speaker delved into history to prove his point that history shows that in times of depression people become more religious. The very fact that they do become more religious in times of depression, and make an effort to "clean up," is what brings back better times, he declared.

Music for the meeting was provided by Gospel Singer Loren Jones of the John Brown company.

W. J. Tway of the Santa Ana club, who won the district forensic contest at La Habra recently, was recognized as the winner at the meeting. It is planned by officers of the club to send him to the annual state convention in San Francisco on October 19 where he will compete in the California-Nevada district contest.

Hugh Gerrard was program chairman of the day and presided during the entertainment portion of the program.

AUTOS BY PLANES

DETROIT.—Nine days after an order for automobiles was received in this city, the autos were delivered in Lima, Peru. The cars were crated here and shipped to Miami, Fla., by airplane. From there they went by air to Cristobal, Canal Zone, and from there to Lima.

STATE W. C. T. U. CENSURES
BOTH PARTIES FOR LIQUOR
STAND; SUPPORTS WRIGHT ACT

With a number of Orange county women present, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, of Southern California, at the annual convention in Santa Barbara in yesterday's session, declared itself opposed to the prohibition planks of both parties.

VISITOR LEADER OF
GIRL SCOUT TROOP

ORANGE, Sept. 29.—Members of troop No. 8 of the Girl Scouts of this city had the pleasure yesterday of having as their leader for the afternoon, Miss Lois Hallman. Miss Lena Danner is the troop leader. Miss Hallman, who has made a name for herself as a chemist of ability, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hallman, East Chapman avenue. She has been in New York City for several years.

As a Girl Scout Miss Hallman was one of three west of the Rockies to receive a Golden Eaglet badge, the highest award to be made to a member of this organization. The one to receive the honor must have 21 merit badges as well as qualifications of character and ability.

Girl Scouts of this troop are to hike to Robbers' peak Saturday and they will be accompanied by Miss Lavinia Compton.

PEACE PLANES IN WAR

LONDON.—The conversion of large commercial transport planes into craft suitable for warfare is seen by Handley Page, British plane manufacturer. He says that some of the huge biplanes constructed for airways can be transformed into bombers capable of carrying four tons of bombs in war time.

Opposition to both the Republican and Democratic prohibition planks was voiced and the statement was added "that because of these planks we cannot endorse presidential candidates who support them." Resolutions were adopted censuring both the Republican and Democratic parties for their wet leaning.

The action was taken in the final afternoon session of the group at the fiftieth annual convention, held in the Santa Barbara First Methodist church.

The Rev. R. P. (Bob) Shuler, militant Los Angeles minister who is a candidate for United States senator from California, was the featured speaker at the meeting last night. The convention was scheduled to close today.

The convention went on record as being strongly opposed to the repeal of the Wright act; initiative measure No. 2 on the November ballot relating to state liquor regulation; and to all laws which would license gambling in any form.

A resolution expressing hearty approval of the proposed bill for federal aid in maternity and infancy hygiene was adopted.

Several Orange county women were named on the state executive committee. They are as follows: Mrs. Margaret Uitt, of Tustin, Christian citizenship; Miss Emily Cox, of Santa Ana, health; Mrs. Clara Jones, of Orange, international relations; Mrs. Pearl K. Hess, of Orange, scientific temperance; and Mrs. Minnie Neville, of Orange, social morality.

The shortest railroad distance from New York to San Francisco is 3180 miles.

Royal Arch Masons Are Dance Hosts Tonight

Mindful of the era of prosperity which Santa Ana merchants hope to introduce at their approaching Fall Jubilee, members of Santa Ana chapter, Royal Arch Masons have given the title of "Good Times dance" to the party which they are to present tonight in the Masonic temple.

And in token of the name, they are promising a truly delightful time to all those who enjoy an evening of dancing and entertainment. For the party will be open to everyone, regardless of affiliations with Masonic bodies. A very nominal price will be asked for tickets, especially considering all that awaits guests in the way of entertainment.

John Shaw, high priest of the chapter, has as the committee working with him for the evening's success, Jesse E. Miller, chairman, J. Robert Leonard, Harry Griffith, John Siegel and W. T. Lambert. They have secured an excellent orchestra which insures full enjoyment of the dance program. In addition there will be special musical entertainment including solos by a well known baritone, and clever solo dance numbers by various young artists.

Good fruit punch will await thirsty dancers throughout the evening, and indeed no feature of hospitality has been neglected by the committee in charge, who will be assisted by all members of the chapter. Dancing will begin at 8:15 o'clock in the main ball room of the temple. Entertainment specialties will be given at intervals throughout the evening.

Guests From Tennessee Enjoy Different Scenic Trips

Asserting that California is even more beautiful than their fancies had pictured it, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Mangum and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bule of Nashville, Tenn., are enjoying a series of Southern trips while they are here as guests in the home of Mr. Mangum's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Foust, 828 South Main street.

Mrs. Foust has been anticipating the visit for many weeks, for while she has often had her sister-in-law, Mrs. Mangum, as a guest in her home, this is the first time to be privileged to greet her brother as a guest, for Mr. Mangum, one of the prominent druggists of Nashville, finds it difficult to leave his work for any length of time.

The four travelers came to California by automobile, by way of Colorado where they visited in Denver, climbed Pike's Peak and saw various scenic points, continuing on to the coast by way of Yellowstone National park. Since arrival here, they have been taken on various interesting trips by their hosts, and spent the past week-end in San Diego and the nearby places of interest around the border. At the coming week-end they will enjoy visiting Catalina Island.

On their homeward trip, the Tennesseans will take the southern route and see the Grand Canyon among other places of interest.

KREG Radio Technician Weds Pretty Bride In Yuma

Cupid once again has invaded the ranks of the Register office, choosing as his latest victim, Clarence Palmer, radio technician of KREG, the Register radio station, who on Tuesday, September 27, was wedded to Miss Margaret Jolly of Fullerton, in Yuma, Ariz.

The young people motored to the Arizona city of romance unaccompanied by any friends, and were principals in nuptial rites of much simplicity conducted by the Rev. Mr. Brooke, pastor of the Yuma First Methodist Episcopal church. They have returned to this city where they are located for the present at 611 South Birch street.

Mrs. Palmer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Jolly, 215 West Amerigo avenue, Fullerton, and received her high school training in that neighboring city. Mr. Palmer, who is the son of E. W. Palmer, well-known citrus grower of Placentia, and Mrs. Palmer, also attended Fullerton high school and Fullerton junior college, following his graduation with studies at the Radio school of Los Angeles.

Announcements

All Girl Scouts of the city are urged to attend the meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in their clubrooms on Richmond avenue, for the new Girl Scout year will be started at this time. New charts and outlines of tree and bird study have arrived. This was announced today by Mrs. R. R. Russick, advisor. The girls hold their meetings on Friday instead of Monday starting this week.

The First Travel section of Ebell will hold a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. B. Smith at 104 South Birch street. Mrs. J. M. Rankin will assist Mrs. Smith as co-hostess. Members unable to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Smith at 1606W.

Business and Professional Women's club members have been requested to make reservations for the first dinner under the new semi-monthly plan of meeting, which is to be held Monday night at 6:30 o'clock at Ketter's cafe. It is necessary for the committee to know in advance the number to plan for as dinner will be followed by an evening of bridge. Reservations should be made as soon as possible through Miss Lena Thomas, reservations chairman. Response on the part of members will indicate their wishes to change from the weekly luncheons to semi-monthly evening meetings.

Good Response Given to Social Plans of College Y. W.

More than 75 jaycee women attended the semester's first meeting of the college Y.W.C.A. held Monday night in the Y hut. In following last year's custom, a covered dish supper was served early in the evening after which a program was presented that gave all of the guests an idea what the Y hut and Y. W. C. A. stand for on the campus.

In beginning the evening's program, Miss Betty Paul accompanied by Miss Mary Nalle, led group singing, then with only the glow from the fireplace and a single candle, Miss Dorothy Ensign led an impressive devotional period.

As the speaker of the evening, Mrs. John Tessmann gave a brief history of the local association and of the Y hut. She stated that in 1920 Miss Elizabeth Bruner launched a movement that in the following year resulted in a chartered association on the campus. After years of struggle in raising money and securing the cooperation of business men, funds were secured to erect a hut on the campus.

The local college is the only junior college which has a building of that kind for the women. Mrs. Tessmann went on to say that this organization is the only one on the campus that is part of national and international organizations and that "it is an oasis in a desert of learning." In conclusion she urged that each woman during the coming year make as many friends as possible as the fellowship and contacts made here were invaluable as the years go on.

Miss Kathryn Bement circulated papers on which each one checked her interest in program subjects for the coming year under the general heading of "Arts of Living," "Philosophy of Life" and "The World We Live In."

Miss Katherine Chapman, president, introduced members of the cabinet and the advisors, Miss Dorothy Decker, Miss Mabel Whittington and Mrs. Tessmann. Miss Chapman was elected by the cabinet to replace Miss Marian Toose who was elected last spring as president for the coming year but is attending U. C. L. A. this year.

The serving committee Monday was composed of the Misses Lena Daner and Allen McCallum, chairman, Betty Neidergall, Thelma Shippe, Mary Edmonds and Caryl Harper. Miss Kathryn Bement had charge of the program.

Junior Ebell Society Reveals Plans for Dance, Programs

Dances, fashion revues, a series of stimulating programs, and section studies ranging through four different fields promise to make the second Junior Ebell club year memorable in more than one respect, according to plans revealed today by Mrs. Robert S. Wade, president, and her new executive corps.

Interest of members in immediate plans is divided between two fall events; the opening Junior Ebell meeting next Tuesday night in Ebell clubhouse, and Carnival dance which the new officers have set for Friday night, October 28, and which will be held in the Ebell peacock room. The latter event, as its name would indicate, will be strictly informal in nature and will be open to persons other than members at a moderate charge.

To Speak On Drama
Officers and program directors are taking special pride in their opening speaker Tuesday evening, who will be Frayne Williams of the University of Southern California. Mr. Williams, who has been affiliated with the Pasadena Community Players, and with several universities as a dramatic instructor, will speak on the drama, his topic being facetiously phrased as "Kicks, Curses and Carresses, or A Study in Theater Aesthetics."

Committees are already at work on arrangements for the Carnival dance and under the supervision of Miss Lucinda Griffith, general chairman, are planning decorations and entertainment of an unusual type. Fortune telling booths and other extra-dance features are being worked out and the affair's setting is expected to be exceptionally colorful.

Dance chairmen include Miss Lucinda Griffith, general head; Miss Boyd Joplin, decorations; Mrs. Charles Daves, music; Miss Florence Brownridge, tickets; Mrs. Frederick Elliott, refreshments; and Miss Frances Bowman, entertainment.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

With the canning season getting so breathlessly short I feel that I must crowd in a few of the many sum-shus recipes that have been sent in by readers. Today's contribution comes from Mrs. J. M. and is rightly named!

TUTTI-FRUTTI
1 cup diced apple.
1 cup diced peaches.
1 cup diced cantaloupe.
1/2 cup diced pineapple.
Juice of one lemon.
6 cups sugar.
1/2 bottle commercial pectin.

Put all the diced fruit in a kettle with the lemon juice, the juice of the small can of pineapple (about one-half cupful) and the sugar. Put over a low fire until the sugar has melted, stirring, or rather lifting the fruit with a spatula to avoid breaking and mashing.

As soon as the sugar is liquid bring to a rapid boil and boil hard for exactly five minutes. Take off the fire and add the pectin, stirring it gently, and thereafter for 10 minutes—this, so that the diced fruit will not crowd all to the top. Bottle in small sterile jars.

CARROT PUDDING
1/4 cup butter.
1 cup sugar.
1 cup bread crumbs.
1 cup grated carrot (raw).
1 cup grated raw potato.
1 cup chopped walnuts.
1/2 cup seeded raisins.
1 teaspoon cinnamon.
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.
1/2 teaspoon each cloves and allspice.
1 teaspoon salt.
1 scant teaspoon soda.

A cardinal rule in making steamed puddings is to have the water bath BOILING HARD when the pudding can is placed in it and keep it boiling at that pace until the while the pudding is cooking. Lowered temperature of water bath is the chief reason for soggy steamed puddings.

The pudding can is another burning question! Have it sufficiently large to accommodate swelling of the batter. Fill the can half full and you can't go wrong.

Cream butter and sugar, add the two grated raw vegetables to the butter and mix with a tablespoonful of water. Fold in the bread crumbs mixed with the chopped nuts, add the raisins, washed and floured, just before the pudding is put into the mold. Make the top air-tight and plunge the can into rapidly boiling water. Steam it two and one-half hours and serve with a hot lemon sauce.

The calories total a trifle over 3000, but with such a rich dessert the portions must be small. Ten portions at 300 calories each, plus 200 more for the sauce is a sizeable allowance for any desert. The normal adult may have this dessert in moderation, the overweight, not at all. It should be served with a meal that is low in the fat and energy-making foods; chops or a lean meat stew served with plain buttered cabbage, chopped spinach, and small baked potatoes could use this dessert.

Neighborhood Favorites, the current leaflet, has workable recipes contributed by the women who read and use this column. You may have this fine collection by enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope when you write in for the leaflet.

Business Girls Have Rally Meeting
Members of the Wyncende Maedens club of the Y. W. C. A. entertained a large group of guests Tuesday evening at their rally meeting, held in the Y. W. rooms. Dinner was served to precede an interesting program.

Miss Virginia Anderson sang solos, with Miss Justina Palmer accompanying at the piano. Miss Helen Hoff played marimba selections, after which a skit was given. Those taking part in the little play were Miss Ruth Potter, Miss Lola Skaggs, Mrs. Howard Bear, Miss Margaret Gaebbe and Miss Louise Bryant.

Mrs. Walter Dungan and Mrs. Fred W. Hein had planned a toothsome Spanish dinner menu, using corresponding decorations and appointments. Spanish pottery was used in serving the three-course menu. Yellow, red, green and black were the colors observed at the table.

Bridge was played with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dungan and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hein scoring first and second high. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bryan were consoled.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Hein of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dungan, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Hein, together with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roselot and children, Margot Ann and Frank Roselot, all of Garden Grove.

NEW METHODS FOR TRAINING PUPILS CITED

ORANGE, Sept. 29.—With George Sherwood as the speaker of the afternoon, members of the Center street P-T. A. held their first meeting of the year yesterday in the school, with the new president, Mrs. H. E. Sisson, presiding.

During the business session, Mrs. Sisson introduced teachers and officers, presenting corsage bouquets to this group as well as the other members and guests present. The first grade won the prize for having the greatest number of mothers attending.

Mrs. Sherwood spoke on the problems of child life, telling how the methods of child raising have changed in the past several years. He stated that there is no country on earth where as much time and money have been expended in education of children as has been in the United States for the past 40 or 50 years.

He said that parents and teachers should work together in training the boys and girls to become better citizens. Mr. Sherwood said that although some of the old fashioned methods of training have been resorted to lately, there are many modern methods which are superior to those of former days. Now, the child has the advantage of physical examinations by competent doctors, so that he may proceed with his training in safety and health. Also, children are given moral training by teachers who face the facts and give direct statements, instead of giving indirect examples as they often did several years ago.

The meeting was concluded with a social time, during which refreshments were served. Mrs. Christina Winbiger and her committee were in charge at this time.

The association will meet again October 26.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The Tines worked both hard and fast to catch the animals. At last the zoo man cried, "You have them all. The job was real well done."

"Back in their cage we'll put them. Gee! You don't know how this has helped me. When Duncy let them out I spoke it was a lot of fun."

"But he's to blame for all this mess. I'll have to punish him I guess. I'll hand out tasty candy, but poor Duncy will get none. Then he will stop his crazy tricks that always get him in a fix. Now for my candy elephant I'll very quickly run."

"Aw, wait a minute," Scouty said. "Course Duncy doesn't use his head, but he is quite a harmless child and he likes candy, too. Please don't give him all the rest a share and just leave Duncy standing there. If you'll forgive him this time we'll be much obliged to you."

The zoo man smiled and said, "All right. I guess you've saved him from his plight. If he will promise to be good, I will forgive the lad."

"I'll gladly promise," Duncy said. "From now on I will use my head. I've learned my little lesson, Mister Zoo Man, and I'm glad."

It wasn't very long until the Tines got a wondrous thrill. The zoo man brought his elephant right out where they could see. "It has no trunk upon its face," said Copsy. "Why, it's out of place. The trunk is on its back. And then the zoo man laughed. 'He, he!'"

"Of course it is," he soon replied, "and in that trunk I always hide my candy. Open up the lid and eat up all you can."

The Tines promptly reached right in and what they found made them all grin. "Oh, thank you," shouted Scouty. "This is quite a clever plan."

100 LAGUNA CITIZENS AT DINNER FOR NEW SECRETARY OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 29.—Declaring a city is only as big and successful as its chamber of commerce, Anton Cavalli, manager of the merchants' division of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, who has accepted the post of executive secretary of the Laguna Beach chamber of commerce to begin the middle of October, outlined an ambitious program for the local organization at a dinner given in his honor last night at Travaglini's cafe and which was attended by 100 citizens of this city and a number of visiting chamber of commerce officials from Southland cities.

Among the proposals made by Cavalli are:

A publicity campaign to make Laguna Beach known as an all year beach resort and home community.

Perpetuate the distinctiveness of this city, its romance, history and color.

To keep the spirit of the art colony as the backbone of the community.

Cooperate closely with the city fathers and county administration and continue the campaign against any advance in taxes, be it city or county.

A trade-in-Laguna Beach campaign.

Cleanup and paintup campaign, including the remodeling of old houses, that will provide work for the unemployed and make the city ready for visitors.

He gave Santa Ana's greetings to the citizens of a community only get back what they put into it. Following Raymer's talk, H. H. Henshaw and R. G. Archer passed out membership pledges, calling for sustaining memberships at $100 each, active memberships at $25 and associate memberships at $5.

John H. Hinchman, noted painter, who is a director of the chamber of commerce and manager of the Laguna Festival of Arts, made an appeal for support for the organization, declaring it should be the clearing house for all city wide projects.

Mrs. N. E. West suggested as a slogan for this city, "Laguna Beach loves the beautiful." Mrs. West then made an appeal for architectural restrictions and hit out boldly at ugly signs, condemning merchants who place them on picturesque buildings.

Ernest S. Wooster, deputy county auditor and former Laguna Beach newspaper man, predicted success for the chamber of commerce under Cavalli.

Sumner Crosby, president of the chamber of commerce, presided. He declared that the interest in the chamber, as shown by the large gathering was surprising. Mayor J. E. Blashou gave the address of welcome.

ANAHEIM PLANS CIVIL WAR VETERAN CELEBRATION ON HALLOWEEN

ANAHEIM, Sept. 29.—(UP)—The annual Halloween celebration will definitely be continued and decided yesterday by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, sponsors of the affair, at the semi-monthly meeting. Harold Kelley, president, will appoint committees to plan the celebration and work will be immediately begun towards formulating plans for the affair that is watched for each season with such interest.

Thousands of townspeople and county residents are drawn to Anaheim each Halloween for the festival that includes a parade, a street dance and a musical program in the Greek amphitheater. For sometime it was thought that the affair would be discontinued this year owing to the strict economy program that has been accepted.

The date for the festival will be announced in a few days, George I. Reid, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

Dollar day was set for Thursday, October 6, and merchants agreed to decorate and make attractive their window displays. Most of the merchants will cooperate in the sale.

With an idea towards stabilizing prices a discussion was held as to the practicability of passing an ordinance that would not limit the sale of goods to any given number of persons in a family or of selling a certain amount of merchandise before giving a prize or a free basket. A similar ordinance, recently passed by Los Angeles and Pasadena, was referred to the ordinance committee composed of Messrs. Harrington, Harry Arthur, Vic LaMont, Charles A. Brown, August Schumacher and Fred O'Neill. The committee will meet the first of next week with the idea of recommending to the city council licenses for different classes of business.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 29.—The social club of the A. B. Paul Women's Relief corps enjoyed a picnic in the city park Tuesday afternoon. There was a pot luck dinner followed by a business meeting that was presided over by Mrs. Annabelle Tomblin.

Other hostesses will be Mrs. Besse and Pasadena, was referred to the ordinance committee composed of Messrs. Harrington, Harry Arthur, Vic LaMont, Charles A. appraised ankle. With Long Beach in the offing, Duncan will not see much action tomorrow.

Oliver is expected to start his all-veteran backfield—Francis Conrad, quarter; Bill Mitchell and Floyd Montgomery, halfbacks, and Captain "Red" Kidder, full—but a number of other ball-toters, including the sensations of the Orange battle, Lee Hamilton and Art Stransky, will pass in review.

To See Many Linemen

Such linemen as Fred Devenney, Herb Covington, Ed Sparks, Harold Willis, and Herb Kortman, tackles, Harold Avery, "Buck" Durbin, Don Martin and Al Hood, guards, and Dave West and Harold Youel, centers, will follow the starting crew. Sam Tucker and Clair Preininger will succeed Conrad at quarter. Other backs scheduled for tryouts are Jack Mitchell, Paul Hales, Ray Clark, Willie Jones and Ray Rogers, the latter a 170-pound transfer from Hemet who has been developing fast.

Compton, which gave Santa Ana a serious afternoon last year before losing to the "wonder team" by two touchdowns, has four lettermen—Captain John De Hetre, center; Daniel Boone, halfback; Francis Gilman, fullback, and "Chuck" Williams, end. Boone, 185 pounds, is the ace back.

Coach Eddie Suggett, who has replaced Herschel Smith as manager of the squad, will head up a first string combination of Williams and Bill Cameron or Donald Orr, ends; Sidney Levitt or Kenneth Dienes and Roy Agren, tackles; Warren Lindsay and Jim Denmore, guards; Boone, quarter; George Carter and Trease Morgan, halves; Gilman, full.

Carter is a 190-pound transfer from Oklahoma. Cameron and Orr are also transfers from Oklahoma. Lindsay, Denmore and Dienes played middleweight football last year, and Levitt and Agren were reserves on last year's varsity. Dan Green, guard from the 1931 middleweight eleven, Harold Mills, varsity basketball star and a candidate for an end post, and Dale Cosgray, former middleweight halfback, are other outstanding performers.

Compton recently outplayed Long Beach Poly in an informal scrimmage and beat Fullerton, 13-7, at Fullerton last Friday.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 29.—Judge H. G. Ames of the superior court was the speaker at the regular Brotherhood supper in the social hall of the Congregational church. The twelve court cases were presided over by Judge Ames' address. The juvenile court was formed in 1926, he stated. There are three types of juveniles contacted in this work. They are first, the offenders one can talk to, speeders, coming under this class. Second are first offenders with whom it is possible to reason and sometimes effect a better course of action. The third type consists of potential criminals.

In explaining the ways and means of dealing with these cases, he stated that it is only as a final resort, when all other means have failed that these offenders are sent to the industrial schools at Whittier and Ione. When all other means fail then, of course, there is only the state prison left to deal with them. There are less than 10 per cent of those who go through the court that are returned for subsequent offenses.

The W. C. T. U. members gave the Brotherhood supper with Mrs. H. H. Hagarty, Mrs. E. A. Kinney and Mrs. Harry Horn in charge of the different committees.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(UP)—A slow, steady decline in the late trading today brought the market down to 2 points with no support developed.

Trading was dull of the decline with sales for the day slightly under yesterday when turnover was 1,400,000 shares.

News was of little consequence, market makers spent their time in making futures possibilities and the world series. The latter attracted crowds to brokerage offices where Chicago Cubs were playing a play-by-play description of the game.

Some traders sold their holdings when the market failed to follow up its gains of yesterday and the early trading today.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 29.—(UP)—A slow, steady decline in the late trading today brought the market down to 2 points with no support developed.

Trading was dull of the decline with sales for the day slightly under yesterday when turnover was 1,400,000 shares.

News was of little consequence, market makers spent their time in making futures possibilities and the world series. The latter attracted crowds to brokerage offices where Chicago Cubs

THREE MEMBERS OF BRITISH CABINET RESIGN

The world was startled today with the announcement of three resignations from the cabinet of the British government. The most important of which was that of Lord Privy Seal Viscount Snowden, former Laborite Chancellor. The other two were the Home Secretary Sir Herbert Samuel, and Secretary for Scotland, Sir Archibald Sinclair. Mr. Samuel and Mr. Sinclair have belonged to the Liberal party. Philip Snowden has been one of the leading members of the Labor party and probably, with Ramsay MacDonald, would rank as one of the two outstanding leaders of that group. It was a surprise to many that Mr. Snowden went with Mr. MacDonald at the time he left the Labor party and joined the coalition. Mr. Snowden has been an outstanding statistician, financier, and economist. It was he who worked out the program for balancing the budget when it appeared that England was on the verge of collapse. He is a devout believer in free trade and he undoubtedly has been out of harmony with a number of the parts of the program as they have had to carry it out. It seems that Mr. Snowden declared that the tariff policy which has been adopted has resulted in decreased export and increased unemployment. These Liberals, and Mr. Snowden, place the British premier really in a position where he will have to throw himself more into the hands of the conservatives because he will be more greatly deserted by the liberals and by labor.

Ramsay MacDonald is in an unenviable position. He has deserted the friends of a life-time in the attitude he assumed prior to the last general election and while many of these friends forgave him because they believed that the impending disaster drove him to take this position as the only possible way out, they feel that his attitude in relation to India as well as the tariff is very disappointing.

A girl with a good disposition makes the best wife, according to an adviser to the lovers. We had to read that twice to make sure that she didn't say a good position.

THE COLLEGES ARE OPENING
AGAIN

The college campuses are taking on life once more. Football prospects are being discussed of course, but budgets and the number of students registering are more in the minds of college authorities than anything else. Most of the private colleges are reporting decreased enrollments, due to the impecunious condition of parents in that social strata from which college students are recruited. The State Universities show no falling off, because all of them are overcrowded anyway. Some of the oldest New England colleges are not lacking in full quota. The pressure to enter these colleges is so great that even in hard times there are enough young men and women to fill the quota desired. We have seen it noted that Harvard University has the largest enrollment for years. This may be explained on the ground that a large number of students are being admitted to increase the revenues necessary to make up losses of income from endowments.

Further than this, the graduate schools have a larger enrollment this year. Many young men, graduating from college, have been unable to find jobs, and they are turning to the graduate schools to increase their intellectual equipment. Most of them are either depending upon scholarship funds or are eking out a rather precarious existence on what they can borrow or earn. It is not a normal condition, but the colleges which are reasonably well endowed are weathering the gale. A great many of the poorly endowed and smaller colleges are facing a problem which threatens their very existence. Without students able to pay tuition, with no financial assistance in sight from sources which in better times can be tapped, they are in the double predicament of having neither sufficient students nor sufficient funds to carry on their work.

"THE LAW OF THE PACK"

We are printing herewith an editorial from the Los Angeles Times of last Sunday. We desire to commend it to our readers. It is so free from any apparent program containing a selfish tinge and sounds so much like an expression that affects us all and the way all of us in our better moments feel about things that we would like to have all of our readers get its contents.

Acres of print paper and seas of ink have been used in endless discussions of the condition which has prevailed for the past three years, of what brought it about and of the methods for overcoming its sorry effects.

Yet its fundamentals can be simply stated and the remedy surely applied.

Selfishness, greed and the pursuit of personal interest are the rank spoils from which have sprung the thorns and brambles of sordid thinking, stunted effort and scrambled makeshifts to throttle the fair growth of American industry.

Evidently a general application of the opposite qualities, helpfulness, generosity and regard for the good of the majority is the quickest and most certain way to speed the recovery.

Civilized progress, stripped of its excrescences is a human and not an economic problem. And its human side is determined by the morality it employs. The old text still stands, "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon."

Has America been attempting to reconcile these two irreconcilables? What do we see as the motivating impulse in too many instances for hastening our escape from the slough of despond? Are we fertilizing the soil or planting more thorns and brambles?

We see the farmers of the East and Middle West blockading the roads, rioting with the authorities, destroying and causing the spoilage of food badly needed by hungry people to gain what must be at best but a temporary advantage for themselves. Their objective, higher prices for what they produce, is proper and legitimate. But are employing the right methods for gaining their end?

We see the great railroad brotherhoods threatening to file up by a general strike, the whole transportation system of the country—thereby vastly aggravating the economic hardships of everybody, including their own members—in order to hold up their wage scales to a point within 15 per cent of their 1920 peak, the highest in history when the dollar had less than half its present purchasing power.

The Railroad Brotherhoods have a splendid name, but is this policy living up to it? If the word brotherhood means anything, to those in or out of the railway unions, it must take in everyone with whom such brotherhoods have to do.

We see, again, employers shortsightedly meeting their straitened conditions by discharging employees, thereby augmenting unemployment, diminishing purchasing power, increasing the evil of hoarding through fear of losing their jobs on the part of those still employed, thereby aggravating the employers' own troubles and those of the country.

The employer must provide for reduced and sometimes vanishing profits but not by multiplying the little foxes that destroy the vines. He can effect exactly the same saving by staggering employment, thus not only keeping his own workers on the pay roll but employing additional hands at assured, if curtailed, pay. All economy is false that omits the human equation.

We see another and more menacing growth in the spread of the racketeer yearly fastening itself, like a malignant cancer, more firmly on the body politic. In one American city its cost amounts to $145,000,000 a year. Through it the criminal element is getting a strangle hold on both business and labor. Racketeering is the fruit of the dead, pest poison vine that thrives on greed, indifference for others and the pursuit of personal interest.

We see in every direction such small organized groups seeking to serve their personal advantage at the expense of the unorganized and those without combined means of defense. We see society, not working harmoniously as a whole, but antagonistically in disconnected segments. And we still ask what is the cause of our present economic ills.

How can we better humanity if we cling to the old bitter doctrine of dog eat dog? After centuries of enlightenment are we still wolves and termites, governed by the law of the pack? Is it our inalienable right to sink to the level of the beasts who can survive only at the expense of one another? Is it true that—

This life is like a narrow raft
Afloat upon an angry sea;
Hereon is but a little space
And each one eager for a place
Doth thrust his brother in the sea;
And so our life is with fears,
And so the sea is salt with tears.

This is human nature, perhaps, but does it have to be human nature in civilized, enlightened America in the twentieth century? All around us is evidence of a better way out, if we combine to take it.

Simultaneously with these selfish applications of the law of the pack we see everywhere, chiefly on the part of individuals who could prevail were they to combine, a nobler spirit of helpfulness, of charity, of willingness to share their little with those who have less, than we have ever seen before.

Our present difficulty would be an extraordinary paradox in Christian democracy but for the fact that the self-seekers form one group and the helpers another—that there is no mingling between them because their viewpoints and objectives are essentially opposed.

What then is the answer to our economic troubles? We know what produced them, the things which Paul the Apostle once categorized as the fruits of the flesh. And against these we must marshal not passively, but actively, the qualities listed again by the great Apostle as the fruits of the spirit.

This is not to indulge in mawkish sentimentality or to invoke copybook platitudes. It requires hard, practical sense. It is to oppose unenlightened selfishness. Enlightened selfishness causes the individual worker to accumulate a competence for himself that he may have a redundancy on hand to apply for the benefit of humanity at large, thereby benefitting himself with the rest. Unenlightened selfishness, on the other hand, breeds cliques, blocs, gangs, special interests, rackets, to sacrifice society to private greed and over-reaching.

We have all the wealth we ever had, more money in the banks, more brains in business and industry, more skilled workers, larger, if temporarily disorganized, markets, better transportation facilities, abundant crops, cheap raw materials, every tangible and intangible asset that ever characterized our most prosperous times.

That our economic system is out of joint is not from material causes. It has been made so by unhealthy inflation caused by a crazy, speculative scramble for unearned wealth, by the formation of mushroom corporations for stock-selling purposes only, by selfish efforts to attain and to retain artificial wages and prices and the thousand and one other manifestations of human selfishness and greed.

The machinery of prosperity is here as good as new, the power to drive it is as great as ever. All that we need is to get together and eliminate the blindly selfish factors that threw it out of gear, and have kept it so.

When we learn the lesson of real co-operation and mutual service our troubles will be over, not for the nonce but for all time.

Captain Kidd was not a pirate
You would greatly care to know,
He usually was late
And his tastes were base and low.
In his fierce pursuit of treasure
Many galleons he sank
And he smiled with evil pleasure
When their crews walked off the plank.
Yet this navigating Nero,
Who was cruel, base and mean,
Never saw a gangster hero
As depicted on the screen.

Jesse James was base and brutal
Even for his wicked time,
Many sheriffs found it futile
To disturb his life of crime.
Banks he robbed, and stores he plundered,
And he always shot to kill,
And for years the whole world wondered
At his bravery and skill.
Yet this bandit, bold and cheeky,
Quick with gun and deft with knife,
Never saw a "speakeer"
In the course of all his life.

Robin Hood, whose voice was mellow
And whose smile was kind and sweet,
Wasn't that the type of fellow
You would greatly care to meet.
Though the bards penned many a verse on
His remarkable career
He was quite the sort of person
We should call a racketeer.
I speak no approving word of Products made in Hollywood,
But before the screen was heard of
Men were often not so good.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BLACKMAILING THE MACHINE

When the first labor-saving machine was invented and installed, a new threat to workers was born. At the very outset of the Industrial Revolution the workers realized the threat although no professor of economics or social critic had then given the threat the high-sounding name of technological unemployment by which we have lately come to know it.

It is an old story that the workers mobbed the first factories of England and smashed the machinery that had robbed them of their jobs and sent the gaunt spectre of unemployment stalking through their ranks.

From that day to this, this competition for jobs between men and machines has gone steadily on. For a dizzy run of years preceding the market smash and industrial paralysis for 1929, the machine, although stealing jobs in one quarter, was making jobs in other quarters.

Thus the threat was thinned. But when the deluge came in 1929, the threat of the machine took on gargantuan proportions and became one of the liveliest of living issues for multiplied millions of American wage-earners.

By and large, little headway has been made in the broad field of policy towards meeting this growing problem of the replacement of men by machines.

But the workers of the world will insist that it be met, and I record here one of the early types of action that may be expected to increase if management fails to effect a better adjustment between men and machines.

It has recently been determined by arbitration that for each electrically-driven pressing machine used in the cloak and suit industry of New York the employer is obliged to pay $8 a week into a pressers unemployment fund which is administered by the pressers' union.

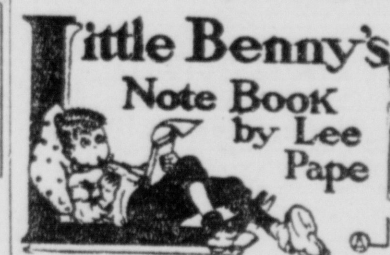

In addition, since it is assumed that these electrically-driven pressing machines double production, the pressers who run them have had their weekly pay increased by $12.

Here is the first instance that I know of in which labor has levied a direct tribute on labor-saving machinery.

This levying of a direct toll in improved machinery, for the benefit of labor, may not be the best way of preventing an ever narrowing control of the benefits of technical advance, but it is a warning signal that labor will increasingly demand that it not be made the helpless victim of technical progress.

If such moves as this are not the best ways to meet this issue, then it behooves management to get busy with sounder methods.

We was eating breakfast and ma said to pop, I declare life is just one thing after another and then the first thing over again. If anybody calls that variety they're mistaken in their identity. I'm so tired of thinking up menues day after day I declare I feel like taking up the life of a hermit and renouncing food altogether, she said.

Let me make up the menu for a change, I'll be glad to take the burden on my shoulders, pop said.

And I'll be glad to get rid of it, bleeve me, ma said. Let somebody else rack their brains and see how they like it.

Meaning pop, and he said, Well let's see, we mite start with a nice cold melon, I understand it's being done in the best families.

And then perhaps a nice plane soup with half a dozen noodles or so to relieve the monotony. Or do you think if we have the melon we wouldn't need the soup? he said.

I hardly think so, ma said, and pop said, All right, can the soup. We'll follow the melon with a nice stuffed shoulder of veal, we haven't had that for months, he said.

That's a good idea, ma said, and pop said, I'm full of them. I think there's still some eggplant around, we can have fried eggplant and stew tomatoes for vegetables, with a few hearty splashes of mash potatoes. Then, let's see, a nice lettuce and tomato sandwich for vitamins, and some simple dizzert, like apple dumplings. I'm exhausted, but that's what I call a good menu, he said.

It's very nice, I admit, but as it happens Nora asked very specially to be let off today and I assure you I'm not going to put myself through any such complicated maneuvers as that menu indicates, ma said. So if you don't mind we'll all go up to the avenue and have supper at the Ideal Home Restaurant this evening, she said.

Yes gods what's a use it's a winnins word, pop said. And he folded up the newspaper and left for his office.

County Assessor James Sleeper, Lester Brown of Trabuco Canyon, and County Treasurer Joplin, each had a fine buck to his credit as a result of hunting in Bell Canyon. The deer had been killed at different times during the week as various parties were out. Fifteen animals were seen in one day by one party of men. A majority of the deer were does and fawns however, so no game was secured.

When Miss Lula Finley drove her automobile into Jim Pearce's garage to get gasoline, one and the garage owner each received a surprise when the car cushion was removed from the front seat in order to fill the tank, and a fine diamond ring was found under the cushion. Miss Finley did not own the ring nor did she know to whom it belonged but was trying to find out in order to return it.

RESPECT

"I'll teach you to respect your mother," says the angry father as he thrashes his son.

"I'll teach you to respect the school," says the indignant principal as he suspends the boy who broke the windows.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, to have no more respect than that. Don't you know you are in church. What do you mean by chewing gum? Out of here, and don't let me see your face again."

We are all zealous for respect. Show forgetfulness of our importance and position and at once we are on your back, you heedless child. We are the symbols of authority and it is your duty to reverence.

So, we teach the child to offer lip service. He speaks politely, though in his mind the words are crowding to the edge of his teeth are cursing us. We teach the child to take off his hat to the high estate to which we have achieved even though in his heart he despises us and our high place. We will have the form, let who will cry hypocrite.

So we do much harm, for as a child thinks, so he is. If we thwart his thinking and impose an outward performance, we warp the child.

We cannot force respect. We cannot command it. All we can do is to earn it. We know how to win it. There is no other way.

"Jacob, you are to get off the fence and go into the library."

"Who says so?"

"Dr. Foss. He wants you."

"O, that's different. If it was old Highboy I wouldn't budge an inch until he came and got me and then he'd go some. The big stiff!"

Dr. Foss is the quietest gentles of teachers. One rarely hears his voice about the place. He is considerate to the last and least little child and of the husky athlete. His word is as good as a bond to the government. His least hint is regarded like a royal command. But Dr. Highboy?

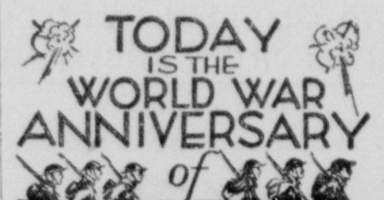

Dr. Highboy is upright in stiff collar. He is stiff in the neck and stiff in the joints. He struts. He brings his voice up from the depths and his lightest phrase is weighted with terrible dignity.

All boys are his enemies on sight. His respect for himself is tremendous. The regard of the lads for him is minus infinity.

The unfortunate man spends hours when he ought to be free in the open air hunting down offenders against his dignity. They go out of their way, these mischievous lads to bother him. "I will have RESPECT," he thunders, and they mimic him at every turn in the stairway.

Respect is a feeling born of the emotion of affection. Now you know how to win it. There is no other way.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

BULGARIA SURRENDERS

On September 29, 1918, Bulgaria unconditionally surrendered to the allies. The armistice was signed at Saloniki and it was agreed that hostilities should officially cease at noon on the following day.

American and British troops were successful on a 30-mile front from St. Quentin to the Senese river. The allies captured Bellcourt and Nauroy. The English division crossed the Scheldt and captured the garrison of Bellen-glise.

It was reported that the Somme district had been entirely freed of German strongholds.
